New Man On Board. William Van N. Washburn, right, is sworn in as new school committeeman by Town Clerk Elden R. Salter. The action took place Tuesday night after Washburn was elected on a 6-3 vote of the joint meeting of selectmen and school committee.

Washburn's In By 6-3 Vote

William Van N. Washburn was elected to the school committee by the Joint Selection Committee Tuesday night, and sworn in just in time for the regularly scheduled school committee session.

The joint meeting of selectmen and schoolmen was called to order at 7:10 by Chairman Milton Greenberg, and their business was finished in a quick 10 minutes.

A roll-call vote showed Washburn, who was nominated by the selectmen, the 6-3 winner over Thomas King, who had been put up by the school committee majority.

School Committeeman William Lane joined the five selectmen, who voted unanimously for Washburn.

Following the official election announcement by Town Clerk Elden R. Salter, Francis Griggs, chairman of the school committee, took the microphone.

"The vote is in," he said. "Indeed we do have a new school committeeman."

"I would like to think the democratic process has been served and that the voice of the people has been heard," he went on. "I don't believe, however, such is the case."

He charged that the selectmen had turned aside many persons who were interested in the job and that "in so doing they have ignored the vote of the people."

School Budget Starting Point Set At $9,640,000

The Andover School Committee Tuesday night voted to start working with a budget figure of $9,640,000, for the 1975-76 school year.

While that's some $1.26 million more than the current budget, the consensus still seems to be for another no-tax-increase budget.

However, they made it clear that the figure was a "ceiling" under which to pare, and they set it primarily in order to comply with a request to have a figure in the hands of the town manager by December 1.

That sum, including $7,438,000 for salaries and $2,022,000 for expenses, represents a tax rate of $33 per thousand of assessed valuation for schools.

The current school budget of $8,198,200 represents a tax rate of $30.2 per thousand. However, the committee had begun deliberations last year at $34.

George Olesen was the lone dissenting vote on the matter, having expressed his desire to keep the same figure as last year.

Committeeman William Lane said using last year's budget would put the schools "in deep trouble." He said there's probably a built-in escalation of some $500,000 or $600,000 in costs.

Olesen also said the feedback from the state was not going to be so great next year.

However, Business Manager Edward Weil estimated that the schools could come out about $440,000 ahead next year.

Some $180,000 could come from the increase in the tax base alone, he said. Another $90,000 will come from a high school bond that expires and won't have to be paid again.

Weil said it looks, from the state report that state aid will go up about $70,000, and a new formula of state reimbursement indicates that Andover could receive $100,000 more gets another crack at it next spring.

They're Subscribing To Keep MBTA On Track

The Board of Selectmen last month agreed to put the question of subsidizing the train on the warrant again for that meeting. It was the October town meeting that voted by a slim vote not to pick up the $6,500 MBTA tab.

The end of what service there is then slowly rolled into sight.

The MBTA voted last week not to stop here any more after Friday, but a handful of riders pledged $500 to give the train at least a week's reprieve.

That action laid the track for Monday's meeting, and the silver Buddliner rolled in Monday morning on schedule. It was shortened, however, from three to four cars - a far cry from the 14-car morning commuter specials of the 40's.

The $500, plus the $3,000 pledged Monday night, puts the riders more than half-way toward their goal. If the remainder is not found by property, no doubt in the Abbot academy complex.

Both Sacred Heart and Abbot properties were included in discussions prior to and during the joint planning session, in which the future of town hall was a part, as well as traffic flow through Central Andover.

As for traffic flow, the academy property became part of a suggestion to the consultant that the plan to bend Route 28

South Main Street around the back of the Abbot campus be revived simply for overall planning purposes.

Such a plan was proposed a year ago and short lived due to adverse reaction, as well as the view of the selectmen that the plan would benefit only the academy and did not take into consideration the overall downtown planning process.

The proposal was to bend Route 28 from its juncture with Hidden Road around the back of the Abbot property to come out to a point near Morton and Main Street.

Most of the property involved was owned by the academy.

It was considered as a safety measure for the school, eliminating the traffic island on South Main Street, and included moving some of the campus buildings into a closer campus.

The selectmen Monday night informed the consultant that the plan as such was not a dead issue and could be included in his examination of the downtown area.

It was noted that the selectmen at the time of the plan's original proposal were not completely adverse to the

The status of Andover's academic community, is suddenly having a bearing on official views of development of the central business district as well as the location of municipal offices and facilities.

Sacred Heart school in Shawsheen is already closed and its buildings and land availability is being eyed by the town.

This week, the possible availability of land and buildings in the Abbot Academy complex off School and Abbot Streets, entered the municipal planning picture when it was revealed at the selectmen planning board meeting that "it is no secret that some of the Abbot property is available."

Availability of the properties was a part of the discussion at a joint meeting of the selectmen-planning board Monday night with Philip Herr of Herr Associates, planning consultants retained to study the development of the Central Andover Business district.

The Abbot property becoming available is predicated on planned enrollment of the merged Phillips-Abbot academies which will return to a 925 student body, according to a general plan, thus allowing disposal of some of the campus

'Cleanup' Permit Issued

THE TOWNSMAN, NOVEMBER 21, 1974

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency and the Massachusetts Division of Water Pollution Control announced today that they propose to issue "cleanup" permits to the Towns of Andover and Billerica.

LOANS For Any Reasonable Purpose ANDOVER FINANCE COMPANY

Street Floor Musgrove Bldg.
ELM SQ. 475-1998

The Towns have applied for permits for discharges of wastewater. The permits are required by the Federal Water Pollution Control Act Amendments of 1972, and issued jointly by EPA and the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Andover seeks a permit for two discharges: one consists of approximately 75,000 gallons a day of treated wastewater from an existing overload secondary wastewater treatment plant to the Shawsheen River. The remaining discharge is 2 million gallons a day of untreated wastewater to the Merrimack River.

The proposed permit requires the Town to tie in to the Greater Lawrence Sanitary District sewerage system by June 30, 1977. Upon completion of the tie-in, the discharges will be eliminated.

The Town of Billerica has applied for a permit for one discharge of treated wastewater from an 800,000 gallons a day secondary treatment facility to the Concord River. The Town is presently increasing the capacity of the existing facility to 1.6 million gallons a day. The project is scheduled for completion by January 1, 1975. The effluent limitations in the permit meet the secondary treatment regulations as required by federal law.

John A.S. McGlennon, Regional EPA Administrator, said the conditions of the proposed permits assure that state and federal water quality standards will be met.

Mr. McGlennon emphasized that the conditions of the permits are not final and that public comments are invited anytime before December 12, 1974. Comments may be sent to EPA, Permits Branch, Room 2109, JFK Federal Building, Boston, Ma 02203. A public hearing will be held if there is significant public interest.

Further information on the applications and proposed permits is available for review at EPA in Boston.

Three Named To Council

At the recent meeting of the Merrimack Valley Council on the Arts and Humanities, three new members were elected to the Board of Directors.

Pierre Baratelli is chairman of the Modern Languages Department, teacher of French and director of the Humanities Program at Governor Dummer Academy, Byfield. Mr. Baratelli received his B.A. and M.A. in French Literature from the University of Colorado, Boulder, Colorado, and studied at the University of Dijon in France. He has been associated with Governor Dummer Academy for eight years. His sustaining interest in humanities and modern language studies has prompted him to become an active member of the Council board.

Gerald D. Kenjorski teaches English and Art History at Governor Dummer Academy, Byfield, and combines these disciplines under the heading of European Studies. He has been at Governor Dummer Academy for one year and taught at Archmere Academy in Delaware prior to that. Mr. Kenjorski received his B.A. from the University of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia and his M.A. from Breadloaf School of English in Middlebury, Vermont. He has studied with Wylie Sypher, noted art critic and historian. Mr. Kenjorski provides the opportunity for his students to discover the interrelationships of the disciplines of English and history that they may even more appreciate their values.

Michael Pavone is the Director of Music at Brooks School, North Andover, and Organist - Choirmaster of Christ Church, Andover. He received his B.M. degree from Westminster Choir College, Princeton, New Jersey, and has done summer graduate study most recently including a choral study tour of English Cathedral Choirs. He taught music in Chelmsford and was Organist - Choirmaster at All Saints' Church there. Past programs have included choir tours to Europe and Mexico, a Mozart-Fest and a Renaissance Celebration of St. Mark's Eve with dance, music, and appropriate cuisine of the period. Mr. Pavone's interests and studies were in voice, organ, conducting, composition, education, liturgics, hymnology, electronic music and jazz improvisation. At Brooks he teaches voice, organ, choir, jazz-rock theory, electronic music and music appreciation. In the spring, he is planning a bicentennial celebration of local Massachusetts composers of the colonial period.

Rate Hike Asked By Electric Co.

Massachusetts Electric Company has filed a request for a $22.8 million rate increase with the Massachusetts Department of Public Utilities. The company is seeking the increase to offset the impact of rapidly rising costs. If approved, the new rates would result in an average 6.6 percent overall increase in customers' bills. Average residential customers using 400 kilowatthours of electricity would see a $1.32 per month increase in their bills.

Commenting on the filing, William J. Cadigan, president of Massachusetts Electric, said, "We regret having to ask for increases during this inflationary period. However, these new rates are essential if the company is to cover major cost increases

Professional Building Opens

Doctor's Center On Haverhill Street

After overcoming rezoning difficulties at town meeting, construction problems along the way, an almost three year process has resulted in the new approximately one million dollar professional building at Haverhill and High streets, Andover, being occupied this week.

The first completely professional building, providing laboratory and X-ray facilities within the complex will be almost completely occupied by the end of this week, by the over 20 doctors who have participated in the creation of the facility.

Services offered by the professional persons at the new complex, include pediatrics, orthopedics, obstetrics, surgeons, internal medicine, neurosurgeon and X-ray.

The building was designed to provide a professional facility to meet the needs of patients served by the participating doctors, and also provide parking facilities for patients.

The containing of the multiple services under one roof, allows for referrals within the building. Facilities there also allow for laboratory testing and X-rays to be administered there, rather than referring patients to hospitals or other facilities.

The proposal to build at the location was presented to the Andover town meeting in 1973 and rejected by the voters. The matter was re-introduced to the annual meeting in 1973 and approved.

Granted a building permit in the summer of 1973, construction work began, but the target date for opening earlier this year had to be bypassed due to construction problems resulting from shortage of materials.

All of the participating doctors are expected to be in their offices by the end of this week with the exception of the obstetricians who will move in in December.

The location of the facility provides the doctors with the accessibility to either Lawrence General or Bon Secours hospitals, should their services be needed in an emergency. Proximity of Route 495 allows them to be at both hospitals with an approximate five minute time span.

Vivace by Mendelssohn, and includes the Colorful Music of Spain such as Espana, Pavanne and the Ritual Fire Dance. The program concludes with Bach's When Thou Art But Near and Bacchanale by Glazounov.

On this afternoon, members of the castle may renew their memberships for another year, and remain after the concert for tea and an opportunity to meet and talk with the organist, Mr. Wilson. Membership in the castle enables one to support a worthwhile community historic site in the United States.

Concert At Castle

On Sunday afternoon, Nov. 24, at four o'clock, the Hammond Castle will present an afternoon of organ music by Kenneth Wilson, playing the 14,000 great pipe organ. The program begins with Flor Peeters' Fanfare for a Medieval Castle, and includes music by Strauss, Rimsky-Korsakov, Leroy Anderson, Rossini.

After intermission, the program begins with Allegro

Lane Balks At Aid For Counsel

Things legal continue to haunt the Andover School Committee, and Tuesday night found Committee member William Lane once again questioning the role of newly-appointed School Committee Counsel James Murphy.

The issue arose Tuesday when Murphy revealed that he is using the assistance of another attorney at $50 an hour, and recommended use of others in collecting overcharges from bus drivers.

Murphy began his presentation by reading a letter of understanding of his employment and said he trusted that "experience with me will open up areas where local talents will even be the ones that you use."

He said the schoolmen had a wealth of local talent to choose from and that he would not be disappointed if they decided to change lawyers along the way.

He added, however, that there are sometimes instances where special counsel is required.

He said that he had used the services of an Attorney Furnari at $50 an hour, in a case regarding former English Department head William Becker, that is before the Labor Relations Commission. That case has been continued to November 25.

Lane challenged that Murphy had no right to retain extra counsel without the vote of the committee, and called it "wanton misuse of school committee funds."

"There is no control on the amount of dollars that the School Committee can spend on this type of thing," he said.

Chairman Frank Griggs said he was willing to rely on Murphy's judgment that the additional attorney was "not going to milk the town," and would get out of the case as quickly as possible.

Furnari's pay, he said, would come out of the School Committee Counsel fund which is set at $5,000, and from which Murphy's pay is also being drawn on a monthly basis.

The subject came up again after School Committee voted 3-2, to seek restitution from school bus drivers who had billed the schools for extra mileage.

Griggs, who voted "no" along with George Olesen, said he felt that some drivers might have been less than honest, but questioned if the administration had exercised the proper amount of control. It was a question, he said, of joint responsibility.

If the drivers do not respond to bills from the business office, Murphy suggested that the administration contact "the newest member of the bar in town," to pursue the case. Then, he said, the schools should write to all lawyers in town to see who might be interested in such cases in the future, and keep a list of them in alphabetical order.

Lane said it could be a "bottomless pit," with Griggs replying that the $5,000 limit was established by law and that they would be hard-pressed to go to the selectmen for more.

He charged Lane with "personal involvement" in the matter and Lane countercharged that they were all equally personally involved.

Murphy had been the school committee's special counsel in the secret meeting case which Lane brought against his colleagues last spring.

Starting Point For Budget

The committee also Tuesday night tabled the election of a head for the business education department at the high school. That vacancy was created by Stephen Richardson's transfer to assistant principal.

The committee, however, did appoint Mrs. Nora Harrison as acting English Department head at West Junior High, and Mrs. Hattie Hannigen to the same spot at the high school.

Mrs. Harrison has been an English teacher at West since September, 1966, while Mrs. Hannigen has been at the high school since 1958.

Appointed to aide positions were Mrs. Marie Cunningham, instructional aide at Shawshen Unit B; Mrs. Jean Dana, teacher aide in special needs at West Elementary; Mrs. Jane Dwyer, instructional aide in art at West Junior High; Mrs. Dorothy O'Meara, teacher aide in Lofts 4, 5 and 6 at Bancroft.

Mrs. Cunningham, a graduate of Fisher Jr. College, has taken the Andover math disabilities course and the L.D. language arts course. She formerly was a legal secretary in Boston, and a volunteer in math and reading programs at Shawshen.

Mrs. Dana, a graduate of Andover College, was a head Start Program volunteer in Springfield, and a substitute teacher in Hampden, while Mrs. Dwyer, with a B.F.A. degree from the Massachusetts College of Art, has been a permanent substitute in Boston and in Asbury Park, N.J.

Mrs. O'Meara, a graduate of Somerville High School, was formerly secretary to a vice-president at Pilgrim Trust in Boston, and a clerical aide at Bancroft School.

The committee also accepted the resignations of Miss Dorothy Bajoras, an instructional aide at South Elementary, and Mrs. Susan Schmitke as an instructional aide at West Elementary, and approved a maternity leave of absence for Mrs. Margaret Fenton, an English teacher at the high school.

Miss Bajoras has accepted a position as permanent substitute at South, replacing Nancy Katz, who resigned.

Better Than 'Fare' Chance For Train

December 5, however, the MBTA is likely to order the train to rumble right on through and the money will be returned to the donors.

Atty. Robert Zollner, who chaired Monday's meeting, but disclaimed any urge to be a leader in the matter, asked the group to dig as deep as they could for the donations, which will be put into an escrow account at the Safe Deposit & Trust Co.

If the spring town meeting decides to honor the MBTA deficit for 1974, and sign a 1975 contract with the MBTA, all the money will be returned with interest. If the town refuses, the money will be turned over to the MBTA for operational expenses for the interim period.

Donors were asked for contributions that would put them in categories: Brakemen, $25 ($1.25 a week until a March town meeting); Engineer, $50 ($2.50 a week); Conductor, $75 ($5 a week) and Trainmaster at $100 ($5 a week).

John S. Sullivan a vice-president at National Shawmut Bank, and Mervyn M. Manning, an executive at the First National, are co-treasurers of the Andover Rail Committee.

Also accepting contributions are the assistant treasurers: In Precinct 1 - Kenneth Barnhill and Cynthia Hartnett; Precinct 2 - Joseph Sullivan; Precinct 3 - Saul J. Goldberg and Vahey Gulezian; Precinct 4 - Glen Cunningham and Warren Lewis; Precinct 5 - Nancy Haggerty and Precinct 6 - William Murphy and George Cleveland; and North Andover - David Floreen.

Zollner explained that the MBTA really had no choice but to stop the train, because it was illegal for them to continue running it without the town paying part of the freight.

At the same time, he said, the MBTA was in the process of dealing with Lawrence and Haverhill, and "what happens here will affect the others."

"Everyone was waiting," he said, "to see if Andover was going to get a free ride."

"We are not trying to get in a quarrel with the bus system," Zollner went on. "We're not trying to stop the buses. We can not only live together, but be mutually profitable and of mutual service to the people of the town."

"But," he said, "we don't want the buses to stop the train either. The town cannot afford to lose rail."

He also expressed appreciation to MBTA Executive David Gunn, for listening to the commuters.

"Even though we're paying," Zollner said, "they're extending a courtesy." Sullivan added far as they can go."

Representative-elect Gerald Cohen, who has found himself involved in the controversy even before he's officially sworn in, agreed that the MBTA was not taking too hard a stand.

"They're just making the people live up to their obligation," he said, adding that the MBTA was not obligated to run the train "even today."

He said rail buffs face the immediate problem of keeping the train running for the next 20 weeks, but then must get busy and work toward getting the spring town meeting to assume the obligation for 1974, and sign the contract for '75.

Gunn indicated that if the commuters can come up with the money, he will do everything he can to keep operating costs down for the next 20 weeks. He said the train was already cut back from three to two "battered, bedraggled Budd cars."

He added that keeping that one train in Andover is the key "to very good commuter service in the future." He spoke of smoother track, higher speeds, "and air conditioning that is on in the summer and off in the winter."

He said that capital funds are available for commuter rail, and that the MBTA is "starting to pick the system up out of the mud and move it."

"I urge you to fight to keep your foot in the door," he said. "This whole thing takes a lot of faith."

He also made a case for possible expanded schedules in the future.

Lowell has a full range of many trains a day in each direction, he said, "and it doesn't cost the town a cent." The fares of 1,000 riders a day pay all the costs.

The one train to Andover costs about $108,000, he said, whereas a full range of service, say seven trains a day in each direction, would cost only $184,000.

Several real estate people were present, along with a delegation of two from the Chamber of Commerce.

"Take our message back," Zollner said, "because we think it's very important to you."

Sullivan added that they might consider the "special contributions" category.

A representative of the statewide Citizens for Rail Transportation group indicated that they were "astounded" that the town even questioned picking up the MBTA bill.

In 1974, he said, Andover received $393,269 in state transportation monies because of the MBTA. Furthermore, he said, the state picks up half of Andover's MBTA tab.

While the state funds went into the general town coffers and have been budgeted in other areas, he said the town actually ends up with a big plus rather than a minus, because of MBTA.

moderate in the last election, but had not done so.

He also said that Washburn's time on the board would be an "academic exercise," and that decisions which he makes will have little effect, for instance, on his own children, because he has none in public schools.

"In my opinion," he said, "it was bad judgment on the part of the selectmen," and he further charged them with "unwarranted, indefensible intrusion into the affairs of the school committee" at a time when the two boards should be working together.

"This form of paternalism does not bode well for the future," he countered that they had followed the procedures set by law.

"We didn't ask for this job," he said, "but once we had it we did the best we could."

He said they chose a man not interested in running for reelection because "we believe that decision should be in the hands of the populace."

Upon his swearing in, Washburn said that he understood why the people who voted against him did so.

He then went on to explain that the most persuasive argument in getting him to consider the job was the fact that "so many good people had written" of their interest.

"If one of these 10 persons was appointed," he said, it would give him an unfair advantage in the coming election.

"I do not intend to run," he said, adding that he hopes those persons interested would announce and run hard for the seat in the March election.

While the school committee had stated preference for a new man who would run for the seat when it becomes vacant again in March, King said last week that he hadn't given it much thought.

"In all honesty I couldn't tell you," he said. "It's not at all in my mind at the moment."

He also said that contrary to rumor, he had sought the interim spot himself, and hadn't been drafted or nominated by anyone else in the community.

He said he hoped to contribute to solving the school committee's problems which are surrounded, he said, "by unfortunate circumstances."

He said what started out as a technical problem had turned into a social problem, and "I don't think that's right. People aren't addressing the issues any more."

He also added that the committee members and selectmen would have to vote their consciences when they made their choice Tuesday night.

"I'm not a politician," he added. "I don't know any of them politically or socially."

A mechanical engineer with Western Electric in North Andover, King holds B.S. and M.S. degrees in mechanical engineering from Northeastern University.

He and his wife, the former Carolyn Swallow, have four children, all of whom have always gone to public schools.

Tommy, 19, is a recent graduate of Andover High, while Danny, 17, is a senior there and Leslie, 16, is a junior. Michael, 13, is an eighth grader at East Junior High.

Coffin Forum Speaker

Peter Coffin, Educational Specialist of the Northeast Regional Education Center, representing the State Board of Education, will present the educational philosophy and goals of the Massachusetts State Board of Education to the Christ Church Forums this Sunday morning.

Sunday's Forums will be the last ones on "Education Today" in which an attempt has been made to present a new focus on the educational problems of today. It has been an informative and creative experience. The reaction from those attending and the community expression of interest has been excellent.

Peter Coffin, before joining the Mass. Department of Education, was the principal of the Hamilton-Wenham High School.

Next week we will be beginning a new series on "Caring and Sharing." The first program on Dec. 1 will be concerned with some new aspects of mental health and following programs will deal with the aging, world hunger, etc.

The Forums are at 10:15 a.m. and 11:15 a.m. in the Parish Hall at Christ Church, Andover. All are welcome to come.

Rented Cow Causes Stir In Alaska

Quite a few city children have never seen a cow, and some don't even understand where milk comes from.

This lack of knowledge about cows, milk and nutrition is even more acute in the remote areas of Alaska.

School and health officials in one such area recently put on a campaign to "rent a cow" from a farm near Anchorage to help children learn more about nutrition.

Students themselves raised enough money to fly the cow to town and feed it for a week.

Alaskan Extension leaders reported the cow was the sensation of the year. Both adults and children came to see it and to learn how important milk is to their diets.

Montessori School Opening

Plans are now underway for the opening of the Andover School of Montessori. In preparation for this, there will be a meeting on Thursday, Nov. 21 at 8 p.m. at the Memorial Hall Library in Andover.

Joan Peterson, an accredited A.M.S. Montessori kindergarten teacher in the Harvard Public school system, and Vincent Polier, associate superintendent of the Harvard public schools, will discuss Montessori education and the transition to public first grade program.

Enrollment for the new Andover School of Montessori is now open for the February 1975 and September 1975 terms. All interested persons are invited to attend the Thursday meeting or asked to call Mrs. Richard Sumberg, admissions director, or Mrs. A. William Peck, president.

Gypsy Moth Damage Declines In Northeast

Gypsy moth damage to woodlands in the northeastern states was less this past summer than it was in 1973.

However, the deadly caterpillars still managed to eat their way through 750,905 acres of woodlands in the area.

The decrease in damage was attributed to an unusual combination of weather conditions, an insect virus, parasite control, and extensive state, federal, and private control programs.

About 400,000 acres were treated with control chemicals.

Leo Iverson, federal deputy administrator for plant protection and quarantine programs, says the gypsy moth remains a serious tree pest. History shows, he said, that the moth population will decline for a few years and then show an upward trend over vast areas.

Reminiscing In The 'Vale

Memories Of The 'Vale

By Linda S. Corbett

"It was a great town in its day," an onlooker said, then quickly corrected himself to add, "It still is."

In any case, it was a time for reminiscing Monday at the Ballardvale Library, while visitors crowded around the displays of old Vale memorabilia, and Mrs. Ralph Sharpe, the librarian, claimed the turnout was far bigger than she had expected.

The library has started having a special event the third Monday of every month, she said, and earlier programs had been geared more toward children. So, she said, they decided to appeal to adults with a display of some of the area's relics.

Mrs. Sharpe and her auctioneer husband, whose Andover Street home was once "Doctor" Shattuck's drug store, contributed many of the items for the day, along with Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Sharpe, Jr., and several other long-time Vale residents.

While digging in their backyard, the Sharpe's had found many of "Doctor" Shattuck's medicine bottles from the 1800's, and the Junior Sharpes, while digging near the site of the old Ballard Vale Stoneware Manufacturing Co., had found "shards," pieces of old crocks and jugs made there in the 1880's.

Mrs. Ruth Sharpe shows an old TOWNSMAN to Russ Bird during a special program at the Ballardvale library Monday. The particular issue dealt with Steve Byington, a famed resident of the 'Vale. Memorable items were on display during the program on Monday.

There were also some whole items on display, with cobalt-blue freehand and stenciled decoration mindful of the famous Bennington (Vt.) pottery line.

The first library in Ballardvale was opened on the site of the present one - in the Old School House - in 1913. Before that, residents had been invited to the private library of J. Putnam Bradlee, in the Mansion House, as early as 1878.

Bradlee was proprietor of the Ballard Vale Mills, and Mrs. Sharpe's father, who worked at the mills, was given some books from Bradlee's library. They were passed on to Mrs. Sharpe and were on display Monday.

Also on show were several flannel blankets and baby clothes from the mills themselves. The flannel produced there was billed as the finest in the world, Mrs. Sharpe said, and won awards at several expositions.

The mills then went into worsteds, she said, and were bought out and closed down when Pacific Mills started up in Lawrence.

The first librarian at the Ballardvale Library in 1913 was also the sister of Steven Byington, often called the "Bard of Ballardvale."

There were photos and clippings about Byington there Monday, along with a copy of his "Bible in Living English," which he had worked on most of his life.

At the age of 13 Byington decided to translate the Bible and it literally became his life's work. He died in 1956 at the age of 87, never to see his translation in print. It was published in 1972, however, by the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society.

Other curiosities on display included parts of bottles from the Ballardvale Lithia Spring Water Company. The firm bottled water from a still-existing well on Woburn Street, and was called the "purest" water anywhere. Lithia, a soft, alkalide-type mineral that resembled sodium, was added to the water, to give it "medicinal" qualities.

The company later bottled gingerale, and, as the Ballardvale Springs Co., was sold out to the Liggett drug family in 1915.

Other items on display included photographs of the Craighead and Kintz Lamp Factory, circa 1886, and fire bricks from the old Whipple Company.

While the coffee and punch celebration went on Monday, a young boy tiptoed up the librarian to ask, "I though libraries were supposed to be quiet."

"They are," she said. "And this one is - every day but today."

Goals Committee Is Seeking Responses

The Goals Committee of the Andover School System Society Group is preparing a questionnaire on educational goals to submit to each school committeeman, the superintendent, associate superintendent and the system's principals and assistant principals.

Suggestions from Andover citizens on goal areas to be covered in the questionnaire are invited, so that the questionnaire and follow-up interviews of these key school officials will identify and cover the topics that concern all major viewpoints in the community.

The Goals Committee is one committee of the School System Study Group formed several months ago under the guidance of Dr. Matthew Cushing, with the aim of finding an objective basis for moderate and reasoned dialogue about Andover's school system. The committee already has gathered information from other communities about their educational goals, and is about to gather the individual opinions of school committeemen and key school administrators about goals they feel Andover should be moving toward. To do this, a questionnaire will be submitted to each, and followed up by interviews.

The questionnaire must cover potential goal areas from all major viewpoints in Andover, according to Mrs. Joan Gilliatt, chairman of the committee. To ensure this, citizens are invited to submit goal areas, and/or lists of their individual concerns about the school system to Goals Committee, care of Joan Gilliatt, 4 Tobey Lane, Andover, MA 01810. Straightforward, concise wording will avoid ambiguity and confusion, and avoid wearing out school officials and interviewers.

The Goals Committee will acknowledge all contributions and make sure that questions based on their concerns will appear in the questionnaire. Goal areas already included are: instruction, teaching methods and materials; testing and measurement; student's rights and responsibilities; enforcement of rules; budget; personnel, accountability; division of responsibility; management, including administrative and school committee operation; community relations. Questions will be asked simply and directly on the questionnaire, since the committee is made up of concerned citizens, not professional educators. However, after questions have been added to cover the additional concerns of citizens who write in, the committee will submit the questionnaire for review and comments to Dr. Frank Griggs, school committee chairman; Superintendent Dr. Kenneth R. Seifert; Dr. Theodore R. Sizer, headmaster of Phillips Academy, and former dean of the Harvard Graduate School of Education; Professor James St. Germain of Merrimack College and others.

This will be done in an attempt to ensure that all viewpoints are represented in the questionnaire and that its methods are fair and valid, so that results will be helpful to the community.

When responses to the questionnaire and in the interviews have been collated, the Goals Committee will report them to the people of Andover. Their hope is that when the school officials' areas of agreement and difference on educational goals are known more precisely, the people of Andover will have an objective basis for a reasoned and moderate dialogue about education in Andover.

Sanborn PTA Seeks Advisors

The Sanborn PTA is establishing an advisory committee to work with the principal on matters of concern to the school community. Its function would be to disseminate information and to advise in areas such as budget and curriculum and any other topic of interest to the Sanborn district.

A tentative plan is to have an active working advisory committee of approximately eight members. Monthly meetings would be open and all concerned would be encouraged and welcome to attend.

The planning committee feels that representation should come from the various geographical areas of Sanborn. It should include parents of children in the school, people having no children in Sanborn, or in fact, none in the Andover schools, plus faculty representation.

If anyone is interested in being a part of this group, please contact the Principal, Joseph Normandy, Jr., at Sanborn School.

A meeting will be held after Jan. 1, 1975, for all those interested. At this meeting this group will elect the eight representative members.

Spaghetti Supper Is Planned

On Sunday, Dec. 8, the Shawsheen School PTO of Andover will hold a Family Spaghetti Supper at the school with continuous serving from 4-6:30 p.m. The public is invited and reservations should be made early as reservations are limited to 200. Donations are 50 cents for children and 99 cents for adults. Call Mrs. Gaudet for reservations.

The supper will be held in conjunction with the PTO Holiday Bazaar from 3-7 p.m., featuring handmade gifts and crafts, plants, books, baked goods, Christmas decorations, free games, free gift wrapping and a visit with Santa. Proceeds will be used to benefit the school children.

Brownies Entertain Parents

South School Brownie Troop 505 entertained parents and welcomed eight new members to their Brownie ring in an investiture at their Tuesday afternoon meeting.

A short play was performed by the new Brownies who included Beth Boucher, Lorri Cocchiaro, Amy Hamilton, Debbie Hamilton, Sharon Parker, Susan Parker, Kerry Spooner and Sharon Flaherty.

Second year Brownies who shared Brownie secrets and then took part in the investiture were Suzanne Boucher, Robin Conneaney, Allison Ingham, Ann Marie Murphy, Wendy Natoli, Debbie Prussman and Elizabeth May.

Wall Joins Signature Effort

Senator William X. Wall (D-Lawrence) has announced that he was joining with consumers for lower electric rates in a statewide effort to gather signatures on initiative petitions. The initiative petitions call for the establishment of a Massachusetts Power Authority to provide lower cost electric power to consumers and businesses in the Commonwealth.

"Despite the fuel adjustment clause legislation approved last year, electric bills have continued to go up. More rate increases are expected early next year. It is imperative that a way be found to provide electric power, which is a basic necessity and public service, at rates which people can afford," said Senator Wall.

For the initiative petition to succeed, 56,000 signatures must be gathered by Dec. 4. For this reason, Senator Wall has already circulated a number of these petitions throughout the area. Anyone interested in signing or helping circulate petitions is urged to contact Senator Wall at 683-1211.

Raytheon Contract

Raytheon Company has been awarded a $30 million contract for production of guidance and control units for the Sparrow AIM-7F air-to-air missiles by the U.S. Navy. The missiles will be used by both the U.S. Navy and the U.S. Air Force.

Work on the contract will be done at the company's Missile Systems Division plant in Lowell.

Talk On Appalachian Trail

Hikers and mountain climbers should not miss the exciting talk to be given at Memorial Hall Library on Tuesday, Dec. 3 at 8 p.m. Mr. and Mrs. Hans Kaufmann, who are local residents, will tell of their experience in climbing the total length of the Appalachian Trail. The topic is "Hiking the Appalachian Trail: A Lifetime Experience."

The Kaufmanns took the north to south route on their trip, beginning at Mt. Katahdin in Baxter State Park, Maine, and hiked the trail to its terminus in Georgia. The public is cordially invited to hear their story.

Celtics Basketball On Film

Our patrons are welcome to watch the Friday night film on Nov. 22 at 7:30 p.m. Highlights of the Boston Celtics 1973 season will be shown - a must for all basketball fans in the area. Admission is free, so come in to the Hall at the library and see this action packed movie.

Library Club Meets

The Library Club will meet on Wednesday, Nov. 27 at 10 a.m. in the Print Room at the library. New members are always welcome to attend. At the last meeting the following officers were elected: Mrs. Irene Jones - president, Mrs. Ann Hyde - vice president, Mrs. Alice Melligan - secretary and Mrs. Alice Brennan - treasurer.

Great Books Program

The fifth in our series of Great Books programs will be held on Tuesday, Nov. 26 at 7:30 p.m. The book to be discussed is George Bernard Shaw's Man and Superman. If you like to read and would like to talk about good books, why not join us on the 26th.

Library Opera Club

Carmen is the opera to be played at the next meeting of the Library Opera Club. The group discussion will take place at the home of Mrs. W.F. Roberts, 52 Pine St., Andover.

Children's Room News

By Jan Johnson

Films on Fridays, our program of films for pre-school children and their parents, concludes its Fall 1974 series this week, Friday, Nov. 22. Three short films, Snowy Day, Curious George Rides a Bike and the Shoemaker and the Elves will be shown at 10:30 and again at 2. Everyone is welcome. Please meet us in the Children's Room. This very popular series will begin again on Jan. 17 after a Holiday Season recess.

You Can Do It, our informal crafts class, continues this week too. Children in grades 1, 2 and 3 are invited to bring an empty glass bottle that has an interesting shape. Everyone is welcome. We'll see you all on Saturday morning, Nov. 23, at 10:30.

Saturday afternoon, Nov. 23 at 3 all children in grades K-6 are invited to a pre-Thanksgiving program called the Early New England Family. In order to appreciate just what life was like around the first Thanksgiving, we'll use filmstrips, play games, try a spelling bee and possibly even taste some authentic first Thanksgiving type food. Join us.

Boys! VIBOR needs you! VIBOR is the Very Important Board of Review, a group of 4th, 5th and 6th graders who meet once a week on Wednesday afternoons at 3:34 to read and review the brand new books bought by the Children's Room. They also help the librarians decide what books to buy for the Children's Room. Now guys, so far this year we have only girls in the Club. Surely you would like to be able to advise the librarians too. Bring a friend and join us next Wednesday, Nov. 27 if you can, or any Wednesday after that. If you have questions, contact Mrs. Johnson in the Children's Room.

Institute Is UNICEF Quarters

The International Institute of Greater Lawrence, Inc., a Merrimack Valley United Fund Agency serving the area's foreign born residents, has been designated as the official UNICEF year around headquarters for Greater Lawrence.

The Institute's new UNICEF card and gift shop, located within the Institute at the Community Services Building, 430 North Canal St., Lawrence, is open Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and on Wednesday evenings, 7 - 9 p.m.

Over $7 million is raised internationally each year through the sale of UNICEF greeting cards, games, dolls, calendars and books, among other gift items, to support this United Nations organization's work with children throughout the world.

According to Miss Phyllis Tyler, International Institute Vice President and UNICEF Chairwoman, "Proceeds from the Institute's new UNICEF Card and Gift Shop will help combat disease, malnutrition and starvation among children in over 115 developing countries. When you say 'Season's Greetings' with a UNICEF card or gift, you'll help the Institute and the United Nations Children's Fund provide needed food and medicine for these children."

"Over the river and through the woods to grandmother's house we go."

That's exactly the way we want you to think of Casa Grande.

Because we've done everything we can to make this private residential facility for the care of the elderly
"grandmother's house."

When our patients move in, they are in a very real sense moving into a new home.

Our tastefully decorated, attractively furnished dining, living, recreation and bedrooms, plus our beautifully landscaped grounds provide all the comforts of home without the worries of cooking meals, cleaning, and other troublesome chores.

But "home" at Casa Grande is a lot more than just bricks and mortar.

It's the chance to pursue individual hobbies and interests. Or to get involved in group activities and programs.

It's the opportunity to be part of a new "family" with all the joys and occasional sorrows that only a family can provide.

But most important, it's the knowledge that our own house doctors, nurses, physical and occupational therapists, social workers and other key administrative personnel can take care of most medical or social adjustment problems that may occur.

Casa Grande brings together a total environment for the short-term, long-term and rehabilitation care of the elderly.

We think it's the finest facility of its type anywhere.

We hope all who are interested in learning more about Casa Grande will feel free to write or call our administrator.

We'll be most happy to arrange a visit or send you additional information.

W. Parish Team Wins Opener

The West Parish intermediate basketball team, sparked by Chris Doherty's 11 points and 8 by Ted Kelley, romped to a season-opening 27-7 victory over St. Ann's of Lawrence in the Jewish Community Center Biddy League this week.

Tim Plass chipped in 6 points, Glen Johnson had a bucket and Dick Kelley played a fine all-around game for West Parish.

West jumped out to a 10-0 half-time lead and continued to pull away in the second half.

Tim Plass also did a fine job off the boards, while Chris Doherty handed out a number of pretty assists.

The winners got themselves into early foul troubles, but managed to keep five players on the court until well into the fourth quarter. Glen Johnson fouled out with 3:30 to go, Dick Kelley with one second to play, and Chris Doherty went the distance although saddled with four personal fouls in the final half.

The West Parish intermediates open Andover Church Basketball League play with two teams competing on December 2.

The 'A' quintet will be seeking its fifth straight divisional title and sixth in seven years. West 'A' has won 36 of its last 37 ACBL starts and overall is 137-14 in the last seven seasons.

In J.C.C. action, West was second last year with a 13-3 ledger, and they also reached the finals of the annual J.C.C. post-season tournament.

West faces the Jewish Community Center club this Sunday.

Sailing Volunteers Needed

The Recreation/Community Schools Department is looking for volunteers to teach in a new sailing program being initiated by the Department. As a result of investigative work done by several interested residents, including Marilyn Pratt, Susan Poore and Helen Cameron, Sailing will be offered for enrollment in the Department's Winter '75 Program.

This will be a land drill/classroom course in preparation for "the real thing" which will begin when the warm weather returns. The course will be offered at both the adult and youth levels.

If you are interested in teaching or assisting in this program, please contact the Recreation/Community Schools Office as soon as possible.

Class Agent

Margery McCusker Flannery of Beacon St., Andover, will represent the Class of 1945 for the 1974-1975 Lesley College Alumni Annual Fund. As a class agent, she will actively participate in the development, organization and implementation of a campaign program for the 1974-1975 Lesley Annual Fund Drive.

Hockettes Practice Underway

Practice for teams in the Miniature Hockettes, Girls Floor Hockey League, begins today. Six elementary schools make up the league: St. Augustine's, South, Bancroft, Doherty, Sanborn and Shawsheen.

Girls of the third grade will practice in their own school gymnasiums two days a week throughout the winter months. Competition will start approximately Dec. 2.

This program is set up and carried out by Andover High school students as an introduction to the sport, so that children can learn rules, sportsmanship and basic skills of the game. There will be team and individual standings.

Anyone interested in joining is asked to contact the school principal.

Camp Naomi Registration Underway

Camp Naomi, one of the most popular Co-ed Jewish Communal Camps in New England has now begun registration for the 1975 season, according to word just received from Leonard M. Katowitz, executive director.

Camp Naomi serves children and youth 8 through 15 years of age. The camp is located on over 185 acres of beautiful camp woodlands in the Sebago Lake Region in Southern Maine, close to the foot hills of the White Mountains. Camp Naomi is fully equipped with modern cabins, a beautiful waterfront and well developed outdoor playing fields and athletic facilities. Thus, it can boast Staff, facilities, and programs of top quality, which has been the "Trade Mark" of Camp Naomi in its over forty years of continued service to children and youth.

Camp Naomi provides a varied program of activities, including sports, athletics, swimming, sailing, waterskiing, arts and crafts, dramatics, nature, outdoor camping in the White Mountains, and a variety of meaningful Jewish cultural activities. Various sports personalities, as well as Jewish cultural artists visit the camp throughout the summer to enhance and enrich the social, athletic and cultural program of activities. Delicious food, prepared according to the rules of Kashruth, as well as various inter-camp program activities with neighboring camps in the area make for an exciting and happy summer. Tutoring and special instruction in selected subjects, including Hebrew, is also available on an optional basis.

Further information concerning Camp Naomi, including descriptive Brochure and Application may be secured by calling your local Jewish Community Center or directly through Leonard M. Katowitz, Executive Director, Jewish Community Center Camps of New England, Inc., 50 Hunt St., Watertown, Mass. 02172.

Warriors 27-7, On The Ground

THE TOWNSMAN, NOVEMBER 21, 1974

A sign of a good all-around football team is when its usually winning attack is stalled, resort to another.

The Golden Warriors, in picking up their 26th regular season win last Saturday at Eugene V. Lovely field showed visiting Billerica that passing was not its only forte as they went to the ground for a 27-7 victory.

In the process Quarterback Jeff Winters, whose aerial heroics have sparked many of Andover's wins this season, showed that his legs are equally as strong as his arm, as he churned out 113 yards running during the course of the game.

The Golden Warriors are idle now until Thanksgiving Day when they meet Lawrence Central Catholic. There was every evidence in the stands on Saturday that the Turkey Day encounter won't be the season finale, as the Warrior fans kept repeating two more games, referring of course to a post-season Super Bowl bid for the

A Pass In Time

Jeff Winters (16) Andover Quarterback is about to release a pass just in time during last Saturday's win over Billerica. When the Golden Warriors had trouble with their usually effective air game, they stuck to the ground to gain a 27-7 win, their 26th straight in regular season play.

Warriors.

Salem defeated Gloucester last Saturday to set up some possible Super Bowl combinations in Division Two of the state.

While the Super Bowl is certainly in the minds of the Warriors and the followers, Head Coach Dick Collins and his staff aren't looking past the Thanksgiving morning game in the hopes of chalking up another undefeated season.

Mark Farnham electrified the crowd on Saturday with an 87-yard runback of a kickoff.

But the Billerica team opened up with a defense which thwarted the Andover aerial game, a three-man line, with eight players dropping back on pass coverage.

Winters was intercepted three times and amassed only 95 yards in the air, his lowest passing output of the season.

In addition to Fabiani and Winters grinding out the yardage, Fullback Dave Tallini had 80 yards on the day and Gerry Stabile, filling in for the injured Greg Eosefow, piled up 62 yards.

Contributing heavily to the victory was the Andover defensive effort, stalling a Billerica drive in the opening period at the Andover 14.

From that point, the Warriors moved the ball with Winters doing the bulk of the carrying to within scoring territory from where Steve Fabiani carried it in.

Pete Reilly's conversion gave the Warriors a 7-0 lead.

In the second period, Winters was able to connect with Glenn Verrette on a couple of passes, but was intercepted in the end zone to kill off a scoring threat.

Farnham's kickoff runback began the second half and late in the third period, the Warriors got another scoring drive underway when Bill Alexander intercepted a Billerica pass at the visitor's 35 yard line.

Winters carried to the 26 and Stabile carried the ball over to make the score 20-0.

After Billerica had scored late in the fourth period, another interception, this one by Verrette on the Andover 28, set up another Warrior TD.

Stabile contributed a 15-yard run and Winters tossed to John Fabiani for another long gainer. Winters capped the drive going from ten yards out. Pete Reilly's conversion was good to end the scoring at 27-7.

Presenting The Losers Award

Andover Supt. of Schools Dr. Kenneth R. Seifert, presents the "Loser's Award," to Supt. of Schools William Flaherty of Billerica for the second year in a row. The two administrators have a pact which dictates that the loser's award adorn his office after the annual Andover-Billerica football game. Flaherty accepted the award graciously again this year, but reminded Seifert that Billerica has had an upper hand in all other sports except football in Merrimack Valley Conference play this past season.

Girl Scouts Hear About Bike Laws

The girls of Troop 425 recently participated in an all day bicyclist program.

Officer Richard Aumais informed the girls of the new bicycle laws and discussed bicycle safety. The girls then broke up into small groups to have their bicycle skills tested. After a picnic lunch, the girls planned and took a bike hike through West Andover.

The day concluded with a bicycle repair session with Martin Dispensa of Marty's Motorsports, Lowell. The girls have planned a bicycle safety poster campaign for West Elementary School. Girls participating were: Nancy Sohler, Nina Derba, Wendy Romano, Christine Clough, Laura Foley, Debbie Annain, Cindy Luby, Elise Moodie, Lucia Derba, Peggy McGrath, Janet Wolk, Kim Pfister, Heather Stewart, Beth Clough, Michele Gildea, Mary Beth Nelligan, Joanne Convey, Maura Dispensa, Susan Sohler and Betsy Erhman.

Troop 425 has also launched a three-pronged service drive to aid eighty needy families in Roxbury with the cooperation of Father John Mulloy and his youth group who will deliver the girls' food baskets for Thanksgiving, and distribute toys the girls will make for Christmas. The girls are saving their outgrown clothing. The old but good clothing will be delivered to Roxbury before Christmas too.

Early Rice

Rice culture dates back thousands of years, but the first successful planting in this country was in the Carolinas in about 1685.

Knights Watched Hamilton Slip By 8-6

By Bill Lafond

The Scarlet Knights three-game winning streak went by the boards at Hamilton Saturday 8-6 as the game-tying conversion pass went out of reach and incomplete. The Knights scream for a pass interference call went to no avail.

Hamilton-Wenham opened the scoring with 4:47 to go in the second quarter when tri-captain Paul Ricker, a big 6'4" tight end took a Jack McManus punt at his own 40 yard line and raced the remaining 60 yards to score. Quarterback Bill Mullen then hit Dave Winslow for the two-point conversion and that was all the points the Generals would need.

The Knights answered back with 9:27 to go in the game when freshman tailback Dan Brucato raced 25 yards around end for the TD. Alexander went back to pass for the conversion but intended receiver Mike Heafey was knocked down and the pass fell incomplete.

Coach Rorke shouted for the interference call, but in the argument the Knights were penalized for unsportsmanlike conduct and on the kickoff the officials marked off the ball.

For most of the game the Knights had the upper hand in threatening drives as they took the opening kickoff and marched up field to the 15. Alexander was sacked for a loss of 10 on the third down, and on the ensuing fourth down play, Bruce Todyn, Hamilton defensive back, caught Alexander's pass for an interception in the end zone for a touchback.

The Generals then quick-kicked the ball to the N.A. 31 where the Knights took over late in the first quarter. On a fourth and inches, Jeff Clough lost three yards and Hamilton took over, first and 10 at mid-field early in the second quarter.

Drew Donahue then recovered a fumble for the Knights at their own 24. They couldn't penetrate again, so consequently they had to punt. Punter, John McManus lined a good 40 yard punt where Ricker made an over the shoulder catch and raced downfield. With good blocking by the Generals he ran 60 yards for the touchdown, with 4:47 to go in the half. The Knights were offside on the extra point kick, so on the second try Hamilton faked the kick and quarterback Mullen threw a strike to halfback Dave Winslow.

The Knights threatened one more time, with a little over a minute to go in the half, when Willie Morgan recovered a fumble at the Hamilton 28 yard line. Alexander hit Heafey for a 9 yard slant pass to the 13, but the clock was moving and time just ran out in the half.

It was a defensive battle in the third quarter as both the Generals and the Knights punted twice out of their own territories.

Early in the fourth quarter Bill McMahon intercepted a Bill Mullen pass at the N.A. 36 and was brought down at the 33. Brucato first raced down to the 25 for an eight yard gain and on the next play ran the remaining distance to score. Alexander's conversion pass to Heafey was incomplete and the Knights were down 8-6 with 9:27 to go in the game.

Hamilton couldn't penetrate again on their next series and had to punt. The Knights took over on their 30 with 6:20 to go, but on a third and seven Alexander fumbled the ball. He was shaken up on the play and had to leave the game. Bert Lawlor came in and threw a pass incomplete which was blocked. On fourth and seven the Knights had to punt again. McManus had a good punt for 48 yards which carried down to the Hamilton 20 yard line. The Generals got a consistent drive going which ate up over two minutes of the clock.

The red and black got the ball back with 1:35 to go in the game. Alexander was back and hit Mike Rullo for a seven yard slant pass to the 50, but, on a fourth and three Alexander's pass fell incomplete with 40 seconds left. Hamilton-Wenham just ran out the remaining time for their victory.

Anderson National Chairman

Ross R. Anderson, president of Anderson Foreign Motors of Woburn, and Anderson Oldsmobile of Beverly, has been named national chairman of the Dean Junior College 1974-75 Annual Fund Drive, according to President Richard E. Crockford.

A 1963 graduate of Dean, one of the largest, fully-accredited, residential, two-year colleges in New England, with an alumni population of over 7500, Anderson has been a member of the Board of Trustees since 1971, serving on the Development and Executive Committees.

He is the son of E. Ross Anderson, a Dean trustee for six years who was chairman of the Board at the time of his death in 1968. The elder Anderson was founder and chairman of the Anderson-Nichols and Company, a Boston consultant and management firm, Commodore of the Boston Yacht Club, and a principal backer of the 12-meter sloop Netertiti which competed to represent the United States in the 1963 America's Cup Races.

As an undergraduate, Anderson was a Dean's list student and member of the varsity lacrosse and soccer teams. He is a sports car and motorcycle enthusiast and active in several organizations including the Andover Committee for A Better Chance, the Woburn Chamber of Commerce, and the Sports Car Club of America.

A resident of 18 Oriole Drive, Andover, Anderson is married to the former Gail Diane Erickson and the father of two children.

Col. Samuel Osgood of Andover, a Minuteman leader, served as the first postmaster general of the U. S.

Farrell, Foote Only Returning Bantams

By Rick Harrison
With only two players back from last year's team which compiled a flashy 19-9-2 overall record, you might say that Coach Dick Neal is "rebuilding" his 1974-75 Andover Bantam 'A' traveling hockey team.

But that is an abused word in sports, particularly in the bantam ice wars where a player is only eligible for two years anyway.

The lone returning skaters are 14-year-old winger Dave Farrell and 14-year-old center Len Foote.

However, a fine crop of new players has moved up from the Bantam 'B' squad, including goalie Dave Hill, defenseman Mike Derby and Paul Keefe, and forwards Steve Curtis, Don St. Jean and Jeff Redding.

Jumping up to the "big time" from last year's Pee Wee 'A' team are 13-year-olds Todd Bateson (goalie), defenseman Phil Weeks and Jeff Hudgins, and forwards John Sagaser, Mike Anderson, Len Driscoll and Paul Farnham.

It is this latter group that will also form the nucleus for next year's contingent, but that's getting well ahead of things.

Rounding out the traveling team's roster are forward Pete Chicklis and defenseman Brian Bresnahan, who were not in the large Andover program last year.

Games Arranged

The team recently opened pre-season practice for the coming winter campaign.

Coach Neal reveals that at present home-and-home games have been scheduled with Bantam rivals from Durham, Hanover, Rochester, Manchester and Concord, N.H. - along with Providence, R.I., Brunswick, Maine and Massachusetts neighbors Melrose and Pittsfield.

Back To Canada

The highlight of the season, for the ninth consecutive year, will be a five-game athletic and educational trip northward to Canada during the February school vacation.

Andover will play two games against Toronto teams and three against clubs from Oshawa, Ontario.

As yet no plans have been made for the Canadians to return the visit, which they sometimes do and sometimes not.

This annual junket also includes visits to various points of interest in the two Canadian cities, and attendance at a National Hockey League game.

Canvassing

To help finance the excursion the team members make an annual door-to-door canvass of the town.

This year the membership drive will be conducted on the weekend of Dec. 7-8.

"Inexperience"

Having been on the practice ice only briefly at this time, it's impossible for Neal to make any in-depth assessments of his current team.

"There is lots of inexperience," he does note. "But the spirit is high and every player is working hard."

New Coach

Doug Grange, who worked his way through the Andover Bantam system and then went on to play standout hockey at Andover High, has joined Neal and Assistant Coach Paul McNamara behind the bench.

Don't set the temperature on the oven higher than you need; the oven won't heat up any faster and you'll waste energy.

Knights

The Knights had one of their better performances offensively outgaining Hamilton 159 yards to 80. Freshman Brucato had a fantastic running game rushing for 111 yards on 23 carries. The Knights had 64 passing yards as Alexander hit on 9 of 20 attempts. The biggest statistic was return yardage as Hamilton had 90 yards, while the Knights picked up only 29. The 60 yard punt return by Ricker was the big break the Generals needed.

Knight Coach Dan Rorke explained, "Danny Brucato played an exceptional running game, as we moved the ball well against Hamilton. It was one of our better defensive performances as Fran Murphy and Dave Stone played fine games, but the punt return was the difference. Other than that we stopped them. We also couldn't cash in on some costly plays."

The Knights are now off for a week and a half until they travel to West Newbury on Thanksgiving morning. Their record is now 4-5 and they will try to even it against Pentucket 5-4.

Knight Notes The North Andover Knights were without the services of defensive tackle Tom Donovan, senior tailback Greg Edwards, junior Gary Starr and sophomores John Licciardi and Tim Keegan in the Hamilton game. Mid-way through the fourth quarter defensive linebacker, Tom Enright fractured his wrist and will be lost for the remaining game.

Coach Rorke gave his team a rest Monday but it was back to business on Tuesday prepping for their Thanksgiving rival Pentucket.

The Sachems are 5-3 in the Cape Ann League and 5-4 overall. They lost in their season's opener to non-league Andover 35-8. In their Cape Ann opener they defeated Newburyport 24-14, then nipped Ipswich 6-0, Masconomet 29-7, North Reading 20-6, Triton 40-20, before losing to Hamilton-Wenham 14-7. Lynnfield beat Pentucket 37-21 and Amesbury shut-out the Sachems 23-0.

There will be a complete look at Pentucket in next week's issue.

In the only Cape Ann game Saturday, Masconomet will be playing at Hamilton-Wenham.

Knight Frosh Romp 46-8 The Knight Freshmen upped their record to 8-1 last Friday with a 46-8 victory over Hamilton-Wenham. In the first quarter Jim Addonigio went around end for 6 yards and the first score. Addonigio caught the conversion pass from Kevin Callagy, and it was 8-0. Just before the quarter ended Mike Laorenza went on a quarterback streak for the touchdown. The pass failed on the conversion and it was 14-0.

Tom Erle ran 34 yards around the right end for his first touchdown and the Knights third score. Steve McManus bulled over on the conversion to make it 22-0.

Early in the third quarter Erle went around end 47 yards for his second of the day. Erle then passed to Bob Bernardin for the two points to make it 30-0.

Erle then returned a punt 34 yards for his third and final touchdown. Bill Sansoucie rushed the conversion points and it was 38-0.

Hamilton finally got on the board just before the third quarter ended and as they added the conversion it was 38-8.

The Knights got their final tally when Bill Sansoucie went around end 49 yards for the score. Laorenza snuck over for the conversion points and the final reading of 46-8.

Tom Erle ran for 114 yards on only 6 carries for a 19-0 per clip average. Mike Laorenza had 46 yards in 5 carries and Bill Sansoucie ran for 78 yards on four carries.

They will be home on Friday for their final game against Pentucket in a 3:15 kickoff.

Knight J.V.s hang on 6-0 The J.V.s came out of a 0-0 halftime draw and scored mid-way through the third quarter for a 6-0 shutout of the Hamilton-Wenham J.V.s to up their record to 8-1.

It was a defensive dual first half as both teams exchanged the pigskin several times in a stand-off.

With 4 minutes left to go in the third quarter Bill Shepley caught a 9 yard pass from Mike Chaput for the only score of the game. When Chaput rushed around end for the conversion he was stopped. This was set up on an 18 yard scamper by Charlie Otis from the 26.

The J.V.s end their season at home against Pentucket in a 3:15 kickoff on Monday, Nov. 25.

Robert M. Merola, Jr.

Completes Basic At Fort Dix

Private Robert M. Merola, Jr., whose parents live at 1 Hunter Drive, Andover, completed eight weeks of basic training at the U.S. Army Infantry Training Center, Ft. Dix, N.J.

He received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, combat tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and Army history and traditions.

Santa Due On Dec. 14

Andover's annual greeting to the traditional Christmas hero, Santa Claus, will be held on Saturday, Dec. 14, with a parade, under the direction of the Andover Firefighters union.

Santa will be accompanied by bands and floats as he is escorted over the parade route from the East Junior High parking lot to Punchard Avenue and down Main Street to the mall.

George Milne, chairman of the parade committee for the firefighters, has asked for all organizations interested in participating to contact him.

Assisting in the annual parade and program, are the Andover Center Merchants, a part of the Andover Chamber of Commerce, who are pledging financial support as well as aiding the committee with preparations and planning.

Prizes will be awarded for the best floats entered in the parade.

It is expected that, following tradition of past years, cartoon and television characters will be accompanying Santa along the parade route and visiting with the youngsters.

The Pilgrims were treated to popcorn at their first Thanksgiving feast. Records indicate that American Indians were growing and popping popcorn long before Columbus' arrival and specially shaped earthenware dishes believed to be corn poppers have been found in prehistoric ruins of South America. Today about half of the U.S. popcorn crop is grown in just two states, Iowa and Indiana.

The Recreation/Community Schools Department would like to enlarge its Men's Volleyball class to a Men's Volleyball League. The present class which is held on Tuesday evenings from 7:30-9:30 p.m. will be extended several more weeks. Anyone interested in joining a future league is welcome to come to the present Tuesday classes and indicate their interest in forming a league. The class is held at the West Junior High.

Sugar's Biggest Customers

The housewife used to be the major buyer of sugar in the United States. But today, nearly two-thirds of the sugar sold in this country is purchased by prepared food and beverage firms.

8:30 p.m. The series will include "Petrushka" (1911) and the orchestra's first performances of "The Flood" (1962) and the Suite No. 1 for Small Orchestra (1925).

"The Flood" is thought by some critics to be one of Stravinsky's most beautiful and strikingly original scores. Subtitled "A Musical Play," it is a musical retelling of the Biblical story of Noah and the Ark. The text, compiled and written by Robert Craft, is modeled after the so-called "miracle plays" of the Middle Ages, a form of religious entertainment popular in England during the 15th century.

The work was commissioned by the CBS Television Network, which broadcast the world premiere in June, 1962. Stravinsky's setting uses three vocalists -- a tenor for the double role of Lucifer-Satan, two basses for the part of God -- and several spoken parts -- those of Noah, his wife and sons, a narrator and a caller who catalogues the animals as they enter the ark. The soloists will include David Evitts, baritone; Gregory Reinhart and Bruce Fifer, basses; John Aler and Scott MacAllister, tenors; and Cheryl Cobb, soprano. The chorus will be the Harvard-Radcliffe Collegium Musicum, F. John Adams, conductor.

The Suite No. 1 for Small Orchestra, which opens the program, is Stravinsky's arrangement for theater orchestra of a group of piano duets which he wrote as music lessons for his children. Witty and sometimes sarcastic, the brief four-movement work also reveals the composer in a tender, almost nostalgic vein.

"Petrushka," Stravinsky's ever popular "burlesque in four scenes," concludes the program. Written in 1911 for Diaghilev's Ballet Russe, it will be performed at these concerts in the revised version of 1947.

"The Alliance," first commissioned frigate of the U.S. Navy, and one-time flagship for John Paul Jones, was built on the Merrimack, at what is now "Alliance Park" in Amesbury.

Greg Brucato of the Andover Public Works Department strings wire for the downtown Christmas decorations. Brucato was among the DPW workers who volunteered time to the Chamber of Commerce and downtown effort to provide holiday spirit beginning Thanksgiving night.

Named Fellow In Society

A Merrimack College Physics professor, Dr. John B. DeVelis, has been recently elected a Fellow of the Optical Society of America.

Dr. DeVelis' election to the class of Fellow by the Society's Board of Directors at its October meeting is regarded as a "significant honor" by Executive Director Jarus W. Quinn since Society bylaws "limit the number of Fellows to not more than ten per cent of the total membership."

Dr. DeVelis is also nationally recognized in the field of Optics for his research work in the area of Holography. Holography is an optical method by which three-dimensional images are produced, in opposition to the traditional two-dimensional images produced by a camera or under a microscope.

In Spring, 1973, Dr. DeVelis served as general co-chairman of a Society of Photo-Optical Instrumentation Engineers (S.P.I.E.) Seminar-in-depth and equipment demonstration concerning Electro-Optics, Principles and Application. Since Jan., 1973, he has been the Editor of Optical Engineering the Journal of the Society of Photo-Optical Instrumentation Engineers.

Dr. DeVelis received his Bachelor of Science Degree in Physics from Boston University in 1957. He pursued graduate studies in Physics at Boston University and was awarded the M.A. in 1959 and the Ph.D. in 1964. A member of the Merrimack College faculty since 1964, he is a past president of the Faculty Senate and was a member of the Academic Subcommittee for the celebration of Merrimack's Twenty-Fifth Anniversary.

He has also been a visiting professor at the University of Pennsylvania and a visiting lecturer at the University of California at Los Angeles on Quantum Electronics, Lasers, Holography and Coherence. He has served as an Adjunct Professor of Electro-Optics in Northeastern University's Graduate Program in Optics.

Dr. DeVelis, along with G.O. Reynolds, is the author of Theory and Application of Holography (Addison Wesley Publishing Co., 1967). He has published numerous articles in technical journals.

Planning

There seems to be some hope that there will be some concrete planning action on Andover's central business district, which has been the subject of considerable review over the past several years.

Philip Herr, of the Philip Herr Associates, consultants retained to study the downtown area, informed the joint meeting of the planning board and selectmen Monday night that "we are not here just to supply a report and not have it followed by action."

In the past consultant examination has resulted in just that. The recommendations are made, yet never followed, mostly due to selfish priorities -- or the age old problem of what may be beneficial to a community is not necessarily good for my neighborhood.

The preliminary observations made by Herr are heartening. He informed local officials that unlike other downtown studies he has been asked to undertake, he found Andover's downtown area to be in relatively good shape and that it projects a positive image for the community.

It is not, however, without its problems, not the least of which is an examination of parking facilities. This is a problem which has spanned decades without solution in downtown Andover.

It is now apparently to be given serious consideration, with the selectmen informing the consultant that there is now commitment by both the planning board and themselves to do something with downtown Andover with a long range view.

Another idea which seems somewhat appealing is the suggestion of a so-called "Transitional Zone" an area on the boundary of the downtown area which would be zoned somewhat less restrictive than residential, but more than general business.

Such a zone would provide a proper buffer for the area, if it could be developed properly.

What seems particularly impressive about the examination at this preliminary point, is that downtown Andover is to be studied as a package. All the problems, parking, traffic, zoning, the importance of town hall, the idea of a single commercial zone for the town, are to be included in the overall perspective of the consultant's work.

Possibly this time the expense involved in such a study may be worthwhile and have some follow through. Thousands of dollars have been spent in the past, with the reports simply gathering dust.

Good Effort

Christmas will have a full community glow again this year, thanks to some exemplary volunteer effort expended by local organizations this week.

Monday night, members of the Chamber of Commerce, the Department of Public Works union, the Andover Firefighters union and students from the Greater Lawrence Regional Vocational school joined in preparing the downtown area for the Christmas season.

A year ago, it will be remembered, the energy crisis put a damper on the usual festive illumination of the downtown area.

This year, the restrictions have been relaxed, but the awareness of the energy problems must still be borne in mind.

With that in mind, the Chamber of Commerce planned a moderate Christmas lighting program and sought the assistance of volunteers to accomplish the task.

Thanks to this effort, Andover's Christmas spirit will be in evidence beginning Thanksgiving night.

It is a community effort worth noting.

Dogs

Well aware that we can engender particular feelings with the very mention of the canine population, we dare to comment on the current goings-on among the Andover mutt population and their owners.

That Andover takes a liberal view toward the four-legged pets that roam the streets, is evidenced by the leash law, which allows Fido's freedom daily with the exception of a few hours a day when children are going to and from school.

We think, however, it only proper, that dog owners be aware of the refuse pickup schedule in town, and keep their pet confined until after the weekly pickup has been made.

Despite attempts to discourage the animals from poking and breaking the plastic bags to obtain some tasty (to them) morsel, Andover's dogs, being a smarter lot than most, give every evidence of being able to overcome all obstacles.

The result, of course, is a mess of trash left on streets throughout the town.

The contractors who pick up the refuse weekly can not be expected to stop and pick up the mess left behind by a neighbor's dog who has strewn the contents of a plastic bag all over the street.

Thus the homeowner must perform extra duties. The daily route schedule of the contractor is well-known to the canine population as evidenced by the repeated weekly breaking of bags.

We have nothing against dogs per se, and we trust they have nothing against us, otherwise why would they be autographing our lawns all the time?

But we do object strenuously to the lack of restraint imposed for the few hours each day it takes to have the municipal refuse collection pickup proceed in a normal manner.

Some simple precautions seem in order.

It does not seem unreasonable to ask that the dog owners be aware of the refuse collection route and keep the pet restrained until the service is performed in their particular area, and the trash pickup truck is well beyond the canine's keen scent.

Off The Top Of The Desk

We should have known better than to have expected to get away with commenting on our Andover ladies in their red robes toting out red refuse bags on collection days.

A call to the desk found one woman seeing red, not because we spotted her in a red robe, but because of the red bag and our wrongful conviction of her hoarding the original receptacles used in Andover's trash collection.

Quite proper, she informed us, to still be using red bags when you participate in the recycling program in town.

By recycling paper, glass and cans, one does not have to use as many bags, thus saving money on this item, plus producing revenue for the town and helping out the environment.

A note from Annandale, Virginia, seeks information dealing with a Griffin family which resided in Andover around 1810.

Terry Alford, Ph.D., 4117 Medford Drive, Annandale, Va., 22003, is engaged in a historical research project at Northern Virginia Community College and would like any information pertaining to the Griffin family. The father was named John, the mother, Zeruah and they had ten children, Charles, Cyrus, George, Henry, Herman, Jonathan, Joseph and Roxanna, among them.

The Patriots seem destined to be just another ball club for the remainder of the season after an impressive start.

With injuries and tough schedules still to face, playoff hopes certainly are all but forgotten for this year.

But while they were rolling, they provided some interesting and exciting football, particularly the defense which has done a masterful job all season.

Visitors to Plimoth Plantation during the Thanksgiving period from Nov. 27 through Dec. 1 will see a special presentation of the film "Partakers of Plenty," a 20-minute sound and color film which shows how the present-day Thanksgiving celebration has evolved from centuries-old harvest festivals, starting with ancient Greek rites to the Goddess of Grain. This has been done through the medium of period graphics and music, quotations from Governor Bradford's history of Plymouth Plantation, and includes extensive filmed coverage of Plimoth Plantation's recent re-creation of the harvest festival as it was celebrated by the Pilgrims in 1621. And from now through Sunday, Dec. 1, costumed interpreters in the Pilgrim village will continue to carry on the daily tasks of 17th century life in Plymouth, with special emphasis on cooking and housebuilding.

The largest group of fatalities in September and October were young persons 15-19 years of age; second highest were 20-24 years of age. Together, they accounted for nearly half of all fatalities for all ages for September and October as shown by record at the Registry of Motor Vehicles.

"This is a tragic situation," Registrar David J. Lucey said. "These young men and women are sacrificing their lives in highway accidents. It's time that survivors in these age groups be made aware that their lives depend on how they drive. It's time for complacency behind the wheel to be replaced by common sense driving."

"With two of the most dangerous months of the year still ahead, I appeal to young and old drivers alike to practice every known highway accident prevention measure on a day to day basis to fight against further loss of life in auto accidents," the Registrar said.

Down the Years with The Townsman

75 Years Ago - November, 1899

Paul Burit, the new florist in the Musgrove building, had a large display containing blue and white crepe paper in his windows last weekend as an incentive for the annual Phillips Exeter game. His efforts were well rewarded.

Several people from Andover will entrain Saturday morning for the annual Harvard-Yale game at Cambridge, with some planning to stay overnight, others returning on the late trains.

J.W. Barnard made a short trip to North Hatley, Quebec, this week in the interest of the Eastern Township Electric Co. He found everything in flourishing condition with a large increase in lights every month.

The town will lose the services of Engineer E. N. Sampson the beginning of December. He has been in the town employ for over a year, having come from the McClintock and Woodfall engineers who laid out the sewer lines. Prior to that he was with the state highway commission.

The macadamizing of Barnard Street is being finished by Supt. of Streets Lovejoy.

50 Years Ago - November, 1924

The town clerks of Brookline and Watertown spoke before a large gathering at town hall Monday night informing local residents how communities of over 12,000 may modify their government to have representative town meetings.

Guess the height of the airplane flying over Andover and win one of two Nash cars to be given away. The contest is part of a special contest being run locally. The plane will fly from Carney's field in North Andover, Tuesday through Friday.

The depositors and friends of the Andover Savings bank have invited the public to view their new building Saturday between the hours of half past three and six.

Because of the Thanksgiving holiday next week, Benjamin K. Bradley will receive deposits for the Atlantic Co-Operative Bank in C.A. Hill's store on Tuesday.

Before a crowd of 1,000 in Shawsheen last Saturday, the Shawsheen Soccer club defeated the Abbot Worsted club, 2-1 in a fine exhibition.

25 Years Ago - November, 1949

The two Andover banks, Andover Savings and Andover National banks, have forwarded Christmas Club checks totalling $240,902 to 3,544 patrons.

The school committee received a preliminary report on new buildings this week, with the suggestion that a 12-room central elementary plan seems most important at this time.

Local fans attend school committee session to vociferously oppose any thoughts of dropping track as an interscholastic sport at the high school.

The Andover telephone exchange was tied into the Boston long distance dialing facility this past weekend and now operators may complete long distance calls much easier and quicker.

10 Years Ago - November, 1964

Raytheon Company officials report there is no fear of shutdown of its Andover plant due to cutbacks in defense spending. Harry A. Loebell, local plant manager says adjustments are being made.

George E. Heseltine, is heading the Andover Chamber of Commerce Christmas lighting program which will be turned on Thanksgiving night.

Andover's real estate taxpayers met the deadline to the tune of 95 per cent full payment by the Nov. 1 date. Collector James P. Christie reports the largest amount came in the final week, $1,417,134.

28 Cohen Working On 'Vale Center Problem

THE TOWNSMAN, NOVEMBER 21, 1974

Clark Road and River Street traffic problems are expected to be before the selectmen again, and Andover's Rep. Gerald Cohen is likewise working on the matter.

Cohen reported this week that he is working to establish contact with the State Department of Public Works to attempt a Lowell Junction connector road for the industrial area, which would remove heavy trucking and traffic from the Ballard-vale center area.

The representative said that the matter would take time, since the DPW would have to examine, engineer the area and then environmental impact studies would have to be made.

But, Cohen is hopeful of getting the matter moving, pointing to the continuing problem for Vale residents due to the heavy traffic now being experienced by residents who have been concerned about safety in the "Vale for some time.

The newly elected Andover representative was at the State House Wednesday filing bills for the town. Two bills, which gained town meeting support this past March, were entered for legislative consideration, one to change the town's membership in the Central Merrimack Valley Regional Planning commission, to allow the selectmen to have a say in Andover's membership, the other to allow the town to draw up a three year contract for the driver education course.

Cohen also filed a bill dealing with a child advocacy bill.

He also expressed concern this week about consumer protection.

The legislator said that he feels an agency within the state could provide some consumer protection with regard to the continuing price increases.

He feels the agency should be able to monitor price changes. Cohen said there is probably nothing the state can do to prevent price changes, but at least there should be some agency which can at least determine why the increase.

Tuesday, Cohen addressed the Greater Lawrence Realtors, Multiple Listing Service group and spoke of the proposed method of keeping Andover's commuter train in operation. He was also involved this past week in talks with MBTA and local official on the matter.

He also addressed students at the East Junior High school during the past week.

Europeans appreciated tomatoes' good-eating qualities long before we did, and by the end of the 18th century, Italy was growing them as an important food crop.

Expressing His Thanks

Gov. Francis W. Sargent was at the Sheraton Rolling Green motor inn Tuesday night to express appreciation to local supporters in the November election. With the governor and his wife, Jessie, during the informal reception is Arthur Singrande.

Downtown Direction May Be Placed Before Electorate

Andover's Central Business District, "in relatively good shape," according to a consultant, came under discussion at a joint meeting of the selectmen-planning board Monday night with the possibility that voters may have an opportunity to express an opinion about future development by ballot.

The joint meeting was called to listen to preliminary reports by Philip B. Herr of Herr Associates, planning consultants retained by the planning board to examine the central business district.

During a discussion of whether expansion of the downtown business area was desirable or if the community actually wanted only one commercial center, the selectmen suggested that the planner consider placing a referendum item on the ballot.

It was generally agreed that when proposals to put up retail centers in other areas of Andover, or even create satellite shopping districts, such proposals have been rejected by town meeting.

Chairman Milton Greenberg of the selectmen noted that such decisions were generally rendered by a town meeting at which a small number of residents were represented in comparison to the whole town.

Greenberg suggested that the planner consider putting such an issue on the ballot in the annual town election, to make a determination of what the community as a whole thinks of such things as the "mom and pop" type neighborhood stores, now banned through Andover zoning, as well as downtown development.

Philip Herr, the consultant, informed the joint session that his preliminary study of downtown Andover indicated that it projects a positive image of the community and that it was not like other downtown studies which involved saving of a dying city or the like.

But, like other growing communities, Andover faces such problems as parking, appearance of the downtown area, sign regulations, and the idea that the town seems committed to the one central commercial entity for the town.

Herr suggested a possible transitional zone for the areas bounding the downtown area. A transitional zone would allow regulation of property to be more restrictive than general business, but slightly less than residential.

The consultant said that his preliminary discussions and examination of the business district, indicated that sweeping land use changes were not necessary.

A study of parking regulations and parking needs will be included in his general overall examination of the downtown area, to be coupled with traffic flow through the area.

Better regulation of signs in the business district was suggested by the consultant, with nothing specific to suggest at the moment.

The potential impact of relocation of town hall is another consideration for the study.

Herr told the joint meeting that he was "not here to give the town a report and then see no action taken." This was in reference to a number of engineering studies done in the past which have resulted in being filed with no action.

Chairman Greenberg said that this time things would be different because his board and the planning board are committed to doing something about downtown Andover.

There is concern over the area by both boards and it is the intent that action on the matter be a priority.

Greenberg said the study seemed to be starting in a different and better direction than other studies, in that it is being looked at as a package problem, taking all phases of downtown planning into consideration, rather than various specifics, such as singling out parking or traffic problems alone for examination.

Longo Is Re-Elected President

Louis P. Longo of Glastonbury, Conn., was re-elected President of Yankee Milk, Inc., as the Board of Directors organized following the final session of the annual meeting last week in Portland, Maine. Other officers elected to serve Yankee Milk include: Vice President, Philip Coburn of Corinna, Maine;

Secretary, Dr. Clarence Jordan of Morgan Center, Vermont; and Treasurer, Norman Harvey of Florence, Vermont. Also elected to serve on the Board of Directors as directors-at-large were J. Warren Braley of Chatham, N.Y., and Merle Severy of Rochester, Vermont. Elected to the Executive Committee were W. Sherman Varney of Turner Center, Maine; Saul Wyman, Bridgewater; and Eugene J. Vandenberg, an affiliate director of Yankee from the Dairylea Cooperative, Pearl River, N.Y.

Winding up the business of their third annual meeting, more than 200 delegates representing the cooperative's 5200 members in New England and eastern New York called for action in a series of resolutions on many pressing dairy problems. They strongly urged the President and Congress to establish an equitable system for controlling imports of dairy products and resolved that the government require port-of-entry inspection of all dairy imports equivalent to those regulations set for domestic milk and dairy products.

The delegates also called for a revision of the IRS Code so that the federal government's valuation of farmlands for inheritance tax purposes be based on a use-value concept and strongly urged enactment of federal legislation providing for more equitable inheritance taxes for farm estates.

Symphony In Concert At Avery Fisher Hall

Music Director Seiji Ozawa conducts the Boston Symphony Orchestra in the second series of concerts at Avery Fisher Hall on Nov. 22 at 8:30 p.m. Pianist Peter Serkin is soloist.

The concerts open with Haydn's Symphony No. 3 in B flat Major, a first performance by the Boston Symphony. Haydn was so prolific that he himself, spending the last years of his life compiling a list of his complete works, was unable to recollect or identify all of his compositions. Many spurious compositions came to be counted among his works, while genuine pieces -- despite the composer's diligent but excusably vague efforts -- escaped inclusion. Manuscripts were destroyed, misplaced, or permanently lost. Others appeared as 'new' pieces, but ultimately turned out to be reworkings of compositions already catalogued. Much of the confusion centers around early compositions such as the Symphony No. 3, listed as number 7 in the Haydn Catalogue, but called a 'Partita' in the manuscript found in an Austrian monastery, and, therefore, left out of many listings.

Pianist Peter Serkin performs the Schoenberg Concerto for Piano and Orchestra op. 42 as the second work of these programs. Like all of Schoenberg's main works from 1923 on, the Piano Concerto is composed with the 12-tone technique.

The final piece on these programs is Beethoven's Symphony No. 3 'Eroica'. Beethoven composed the Third Symphony between 1802 and 1804, and the first performance took place privately at the house of Prince von Lobkowitz in Vienna in 1804. Beethoven himself conducted. The Boston Symphony Orchestra first performed this work on November 18, 1881 under Georg Henschel's direction.

Peter Serkin made his debut with the Boston Symphony Orchestra during the summer of 1970 in a performance of Schoenberg's Piano Concerto. He made his first public appearance at the age of twelve at the Marlboro Music Festival, and his New York debut soon afterwards. In the years since he has appeared with major symphony orchestras both in the United States and abroad.

Rarely does one buy a house for the heating system it contains. After all, who sees it except you? Even though it may not be on display, every hour it runs costs you money, especially today when all fuels have become excessively expensive. If the unit is over ten years old and burns oil, make sure it has a modern oil gun with the new design head. If it burns gas, make sure the burner is properly sized. If it is a hot air system, the blower must have sufficient capacity to reach all rooms, and be sure the filter is clean. Have the thermostat recalibrated. Above all, be sure that all windows are tight and that insulation is complete.

Music Brings Joy

About 70 students from St. Augustine's School visited Tewksbury State Hospital on Friday night with guitars, flutes and well-tuned voices. The boys and girls entertained the patients with a special presentation of old time songs.

The audience was obviously delighted and joined the young people in all the familiar melodies.

The talented group plans on several more visits to the hospital later in the year as they prepare a new repertoire. Meanwhile they do plan on bringing the same old-time favorites to the Notre Dame Infirmary in Worcester on Nov. 30, for the pleasure of the retired Sisters there.

A special program is also being planned for the young children at Hathorne, when the St. Augustine's group will visit with them next week on Nov. 23.

The choral group as well as the instrumentalists are under the direction of Sister Madeline St. Charles who teaches music and art at the school.

Students volunteer their time to visit and entertain those in nursing homes, hospitals, or other centers where such music can bring joy.

Congressman At Church

Congressman Barber B. Conable, Jr., of the 35th District, New York, will be guest at a forum and bring greetings at the regular Sunday worship service at First Methodist Church, North Andover, Sunday morning.

Congressman Conable will be the guest at a 9 a.m. forum at which questions and answers will be welcomed.

He is the second ranking Republican on the House Ways and Means committee and is chairman of the Policy committee of the Republican National Committee.

Cong. Conable is currently lecturing at Harvard University in the Kennedy Institute of Political Science, on the topic, "Politics in the People's House."

Thanksgiving Ingathering

A Thanksgiving Ingathering will be held at Faith Lutheran this Sunday, Nov. 24. All food offerings received will be given to GLEAM; all cash offerings will be used for the World Hunger Appeal being sponsored by the Lutheran Church in America.

Registrations are now being received for the Christmas School to be held at Faith Lutheran Church from Monday, Dec. 2 to Friday, Dec. 6. The school is designed to help four and five year olds come to an appreciation of the significance of Christmas. Registrations may be made by contacting Mrs. Patricia Myrom, 69 Carmel Road, Andover.

Checking Over Items For Fair

Members of the committee planning the Christmas fair at North Parish Unitarian church, North Andover, examine some of the items in preparation for the event to be held this Saturday. From left, Phila Slade, Ruth Waldman and Lois Fisher.

North Parish Fair Saturday

The North Parish Church, Unitarian, of North Andover, is sponsoring a festive Christmas Fair on Saturday, Nov. 23 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., with a home-cooked luncheon to be served from 12 to 1 p.m.

The church is located at the corner of Academy Road and Great Pond Road in the Old Center of North Andover.

Fair Chairman Mrs. Jean Brau of 8 Twinbrook Circle, Andover, says that the public is invited to come and browse or buy, enjoy a delicious luncheon and bring the children for a continuous showing of cartoons and a special Children's Corner for arts and crafts.

There will be three separate drawings at 2:30 p.m. for the following items: a hand-braided rug in shades of brown, rust and green made by talented Church member Mrs. Lily Peel; dinner for two at Thompson's Restaurant in North Andover; and a Christmas centerpiece from Rennie's Florist Center.

The luncheon, to be served from 12 to 1 p.m. under the chairmanship of Mrs. Eleanor Flanders, will consist of corn chowder, fish medley on rice with peas and pimiento, turkey sandwiches, ham and cheese on rye sandwiches and an unusual pineapple dessert.

Mrs. Martha Salisbury will be in charge of the Children's Room where the children can buy or make at the arts and crafts table presents for the friends on their lists. Together with a continuous showing of cartoons, under the direction of Arthur Chase and David Blanchard, Jr., the children will be kept well occupied during the course of the fair. Mrs. Lois Fisher and Mrs. Elsa Read have organized a varied and delightful Flea Market, Miss Ruth Waldman is coordinating a selection at the Books and Records Table, and Mrs. Lois Simmonds has brought together a delightful collection of growing things for the Plant Table.

One of the specialties of the fair is a unique assortment of hand-made toys and household items in the Handicraft Department, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Pinky Bodge and Mrs. Lily Peel. These unusual treasures have been lovingly hand-crafted by talented church members over the past year during many at-home hours as well as at special Fair Workshops organized by Mrs. Brau over the past few months.

Another high point of the fair is the Artist's Center, specializing in the original needlepoint designs, wall hangings, pillows and paintings of local artist Mrs. Phila Slade. To delight the youngsters, Mrs. Slade has also agreed to accept orders for hand-painted Zodiac T-shirts, done with the artist's touch.

Charles Brau will be in charge of the Carpenter's Corner, specializing in hand-crafted wooden toys and other household items.

There will be many delicious edible items for sale, most of them prepared by church members. Richard Slade will be in charge of a delightful selection of cheeses at the Cheese Table, Mrs. Marilyn Totten will preside over an assortment of home-made confections at the Fudge Table, and Mrs. Louise Dearman will supervise a variety of delicious eatables at the Food Table.

Mrs. Brau and her committee invite the public to come and spend a delightful day with the family at the festive Christmas Fair of the North Parish Church, Unitarian.

Convenience Foods Not Inexpensive

Have the years of plentiful, cheap food spoiled you? Do you make your own hamburger patties, or rely on the packaged kind, already shaped and frozen?

These are some of the questions that arise with the ever-higher price of food, the Massachusetts Department of Agriculture (MDA) points out this week.

It's costly enough to buy ground beef by the pound and pat your own patties, but to buy them in the frozen convenience package costs nearly double. Rolling your own bread, cracker or graham crumbs may seem a chore, but you'll save money over buying them already crumbed for you. Grated or sliced cheddar costs more per pound than as a whole wedge.

As the market basket price rises alarmingly, we realize that we're paying someone else to do the work. Homemakers may have to spend more time in the kitchen to offset the inflated prices. But the so-called "convenience foods" don't really save that much time.

As you shop for the Thanksgiving turkey, you'll find a range in price, too, between the fresh-frozen toms and the fully-prepared, self-basting turkeys. The latter is delightfully easy to cook and the flavor and juiciness are superb, but you can pay up to 20 cents a pound for the convenience.

Cold storage stocks of turkeys were at record levels at the beginning of November, and demand was down. Prices began to ease last week, and should hold steady through the holiday.

Lowest-priced turkeys are the plain, fresh-frozen toms, followed by fresh-frozen hen turkeys. Frozen, with a pop-up signal to tell you when it's done, falls somewhere in the middle. At the high end of the scale are the self-basting turkeys, and the fresh-killed.

Next time you shop for food, analyze the convenience products you buy, and then decide if the money spent is really worth the effort saved.

Best Buys this week, according to the MDA, are Cortland and McIntosh apples, carrots, cauliflower, native cranberries, Eastern Shore potatoes, Blue Hubbard and butternut squash, and Florida citrus - tangelos, tangerines and grapefruit.

Bridge Club Activities

Andover

Bill Knowles and Clint Kirkness proved impossible to beat last Thursday night at the Andover Club Championship duplicate bridge contest. They earned a 75 per cent game, a very rare feat in tournament bridge. The Club will hold a regular session this Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the cafeteria of West Elementary school - all interested bridge players in the area are invited to participate. Winners of the Club Championship were:

1. Bill Knowles - Clint Kirkness
2. Ilene Tatelman - Hank Rosenberg
3. Ann Reynolds - Maury O'Brien

Bob Says:

One of the most frequently used - and misused - expressions in the business world today is that a product is "guaranteed" or "warranted". The two words are interchangeable. Originally the Saxon root "gua" was pronounced "wa". Everybody is always unconditionally "guaranteeing" this thing or that job. Well we'd like to say a few words about one of our "guarantees", and what it means.

We guarantee service. That means that if you call us to fix your copier, we'll come the same day, if your hours permit, and if we don't fix it properly we'll return and make it right any time up to 2 weeks from the initial response. The fact that we charge less than other companies in no way reflects on the quality of service we provide. In fact, you get more.

Ballard Vale United Church was the setting October 5, for the 1 o'clock wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth E. Erler.

The bride is the former Robin Cheryl Dunn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Dunn of 261 Andover Street, Andover, and the groom is the son of Mrs. Catherine Erler, 216 North Main Street, Andover.

Miss Barbara Ferrier of Andover, the bride's cousin, served as her maid of honor and Charles Carter of Worcester, the groom's brother-in-law, was his best man.

A reception followed the wedding at the Knights of Columbus Hall, North Reading, and the couple took a wedding trip to New Hampshire and Maine.

They are now at home in Andover.

Pass Up The Sugar Eating Money Is Cheaper

Inflation is accomplishing what all the dentists in America have tried to get us to do for years - cut down on sugar consumption, says the Massachusetts Department of Agriculture (MDA).

Sugar earned the rating of Worst Possible Buy this week as the price of five pounds jumped another 30 cents, and two major supermarket chains urged consumers to leave it on the shelves.

As a food with one of the highest calorie and lowest nutrition contents you can find, sugar was never a very good purchase to begin with, even at its old prices. Today, its purchase is almost as ridiculous as the price of oil - and a lot less necessary.

It may be hard at first to substitute fresh and canned fruits for rich baked sweets and pastries, or to take your tea and coffee neat, but you'll be healthier and happier in the end, says the MDA.

There are other common foods that are less than economical, and could well be left off the shopping list. Luncheon meats, bacon and sausage, for example, all have more fat and less protein than fresh meats and poultry. Among dairy foods, yogurt is cheaper than sour cream, and provides more nutrition. Margarine is better for you than butter, and usually less costly. Dry milk powder costs less than whole milk, and does as much for the family.

Whether we like it or not, our food buying habits are changing, and very likely for the better. There may come a time when we will no longer be the fattest country in the world.

For continuous daily information that will help you make economical substitutions, call the MDA Food Shopper's Hot Line. From out of town, call toll-free 1-800-392-6026.

The Early Music Series at the Museum of Fine Arts will celebrate "A French Christmas" in three performances by the Boston Camerata. Two concerts will be held in the Museum's Lecture Hall, Dec. 15 at 3 p.m., and Dec. 17 at 7 p.m. The final concert will be at Harvard University's Sanders Theatre on Dec. 19 at 8:30 p.m.

The Boston Camerata, directed by Joel Cohen, is a unique ensemble of singers and instrumentalists utilizing the Museum's outstanding Musical Instruments Collection. It is the only organization of its kind to use a notable museum collection of ancient instruments in the performance of early music.

"A French Christmas" will feature music of five centuries from cathedrals and countryside, including Charpentier's "Midnight Mass" on French Christmas carols.

This Christmas program is the first in the four-part Early Music Series featuring medieval, Renaissance, and Baroque music. Other concerts are scheduled for February, March and May. Single tickets at $4, and season tickets at $15 are available. Tickets for students are available at the Sanders Theatre performances. For further information call the Musical Instruments Collection.

Visits High Point

Mariba Nadler, manager of Port Furniture, 84 State St., Newburyport, has just returned from "the furniture capital of the world," High Point, North Carolina.

The purpose of her trip was to purchase famous name furniture lines for her State Street store and in anticipation of the grand opening of Port Furniture, early next year, at the Pleasant and Titcomb streets location (formerly Port Theatre).

Named for the mother town of Amesbury, Wiltshire in England, Amesbury was settled by English yeomen in 1640, on the site of one of New England's largest Indian villages.

ENDANGERED SPECIES?

The Koala, a native of Australia, lives atop Eucalyptus and Blue Gum trees for most of its life. Although it has a charming and loving disposition, it is becoming increasingly rare.

The original Breuer chair, a classic designed in 1925, has a chrome plated frame, natural cane seat and back, with black wood frame. It lives at PORT FURNITURE and is becoming increasingly rare in that environment because of its comfort, practicability and LOW price.

Pick up a Breuer chair (while they last) for home or office.

Outlining A Plan

John S. Sullivan outlines the financial plan to keep the MBTA commuter train stopping in Andover. Sullivan co-chaired a meeting of interested commuters Monday night in the hopes of keeping the train service alive until town meeting in March through public subscription.

Appointed Vice Pres. Purchasing

Glenn W. Inman, formerly director of purchasing and materials management, has been elected vice president-purchasing and materials of Clow Corporation, Oak Brook, Illinois, manufacturer of pipe, valves and waste treatment equipment, it has been announced by Raymond G. Rinehart, Clow president and chief executive officer.

Before joining Clow in August, 1973, Inman was formerly director of facilities and material of Avco Systems Division, Wilmington.

He was the 1972-1973 District 9 vice president of the National Association of Purchasing Management, and also a member of its executive board and executive committee. He is a member of the American Management Association Purchasing Planning Council.

Clow, with 1973 sales of $116,000,000, manufactures cast iron and ductile iron pressure pipe and fittings at Bensenville, Illinois; Birmingham, Alabama; and Coshocton, Ohio; valves and fire hydrants at Oskaloosa, Iowa and Corona, California; piping specialties at Wichita Falls, Texas; PVC and polybutylene pipe and tubing at Pell City, Alabama; Columbia, Missouri; and Buckhannon, West Virginia; water treatment chemicals at Pontiac, Michigan; vitrified clay pipe at Carol Stream, Illinois and Pottstown, Pennsylvania; refractory brick at Parral, Ohio; and mechanical equipment for industrial and municipal wastewater handling and sewage treatment at Melrose Park, Illinois and Richwood, Kentucky. The company also operates waterworks and piping supply warehouses in New Berlin, Wisconsin; Cleveland and Dayton, Ohio, and Rochester and Waterford, New York. Inman resides at 25 W 725

Elmwood Drive, Wheaton, Illinois.

Raytheon Involved In Waste Resource Plant

THE TOWNSMAN, NOVEMBER 21, 1974

Contract negotiations for the first task in a program to design and construct a modern resource recovery plant for the County of Monroe, New York, has begun between Raytheon Service Company and the county government. The program, a multi-year, multi-task one, is expected to result in a waste recovery facility capable of processing 2000 tons of municipal waste per day. Value of the total program is expected to be in the $25 million range. The County of Monroe includes the greater Rochester, N.Y. area.

Using advanced sorting and separation methods, the facility would be expected to recover from 1700 to more than 1900 tons of usable material per day. Recovered materials will include a solid-waste-derived fuel for use by Rochester Gas and Electric Company; recyclable paper; ferrous scrap; such non ferrous metals as aluminum and copper; and zinc-based alloys; glass cullet for use by a nearby glass container manufacturer; and sand.

Revenues from the sale of reusable materials are expected to cover operating costs and amortization, while reducing landfill to a few per cent of present requirements.

Current contract negotiations were authorized at the last meeting of the county legislature by a resolution singling out that Raytheon Service Company's proposal was the "best and most applicable to meet the needs of the county." Immediate tasks include design of the resource recovery plant and preparation of plans and specifications for competitive bidding for construction and equipment.

Later tasks to be negotiated include construction management, plant start up, and a five year operational contract including marketing of the output products.

Raytheon Service Company, headquartered in Burlington, is a wholly owned subsidiary of Raytheon Company. It is engaged in world wide engineering, installation, operation, and maintenance of a wide range of equipment and systems.

Current efforts of the company in the waste recovery field include a contract with the city of Lowell, for a process to recover, for sale, noncombustible materials from the community's solid waste disposal system; and work with the Bureau of Mines on waste recovery processes and methods.

Raytheon Service Company's resource recovery systems are based on work done in conjunction with the U.S. Bureau of Mines raw refuse and residue pilot plants in Maryland.

chief executive officer of New England Electric System (NEES) and spokesman for New England Power Pool (NEPOOL), pointed out the potential loss in a letter to FEA administrator John C. Sawhill. In the letter, Nichols referred to the Emergency Petroleum Act of 1973 which provides for the equitable distribution of fuel supplies at "equitable prices," among all regions of the United States.

"There is little doubt," said Nichols, "that areas like New England, which are heavily dependent on imported oil, have already borne a disproportionate share of the energy crisis. A preliminary analysis of the proposed rulemaking," he continued, "raises grave concerns as to the FEA's responsiveness to the needs of New England consumers."

According to Nichols, the proposed FEA rules would result in the possibility that much of the potential savings would end up in the hands of oil suppliers and not consumers. "The proposed rulemaking," Nichols said, "does not respond to the mandate of the Emergency Petroleum Act of 1973 and, by not doing so, clearly continues the FEA's discriminatory posture with regard to New England consumers."

In concluding, Nichols urged the FEA to take immediate action to rectify the inequities in the fuel supply/price system.

Electric Co. Issues Appeal

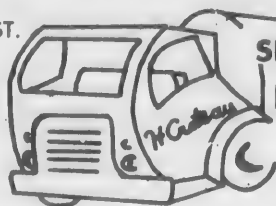

Electric consumers in New England stand to lose up to $350 million in potential savings if the Federal Energy Administration (FEA) adopts recently proposed rules for the allocation of lower priced domestic oil.

The Beverage Barn - Soft Drinks, Beers, Wines

Having a party? Company coming? Family getting together for the holidays? Let The Beverage Barn in Ballardvale save you money on your soft drinks, fruit juices, beer and wine. The Beverage Barn at 179 Andover Street (the Community Center building) offers the best buys in the area.

The Beverage Barn offers savings on top brand soft drinks such as Coca Cola, Pepsi Cola, Simpson Spring, Cott, White Rock, Moxie, Tropicana, even Dr. Pepper. And they have just brought in Castle Rock in return-able bottles in keeping with Andover's ecology policy. Castle Rock is available in 27 different flavors, diet and regular, and The Beverage Barn already has a good supply in stock for your selection. Other soft drinks are available in your choice of return-able bottles, non-returnables or cans. Mix or match cans and bottles. Make up a case of 12 or 24, or buy just a bottle or two - either way you save at The Beverage Barn. Lincoln and Bessey's juices are available at similar savings.

Imported beers for the holidays, from 30 different countries, are featured at the Beverage Barn. This is undoubtedly the largest retail selection of imported beer in the Merrimack Valley. They also have domestic beers, of course, and have kegs of beer, chilled and ready to go to your next party.

A year's membership in The Beverage Barn's wine of the month club makes an excellent Christmas gift. This unique shop has over 500 different wines from around the world, plus all your domestic favorites. Call them about putting on a Wine Tasting for your club or organization.

The Beverage Barn is open Monday through Saturday from 9 to 9, call 475-8152.

The Andover Photography Club held its first meeting this past week and organized for the season.

The newly formed group will provide a forum for the entire photographic spectrum from amateur to professional.

David Skelly, professional photographer and photographer for the TOWNSMAN, will provide technical guidance for the club.

Newly elected officers include Herb Spooner, president; Jane Austin, vice president; Linda Eggers, secretary; Pat Morino, treasurer.

The first full meeting of the club is scheduled for Thursday, Dec. 10 at Andover High school.

The meeting will be open to the public and new members may enroll at that time.

College To Expand Program

Cooperative educational opportunities will be expanded at Merrimack College with the beginning of the 1975 academic year. A four-year cooperative degree program in Civil Engineering and Electrical Engineering will be added to Merrimack College's five-year cooperative degree program in Business Administration, it was announced today by Merrimack College President, V. Rev. John R. Aherne, O.S.A.

Commenting on the new Engineering program which was recently approved by Merrimack's Board of Trustees, Fr. Aherne said: "We have made a definite attempt to hold the line on tuition costs at Merrimack over the past three years. Still as a private college, we see an obligation to offer even more tuition assistance to Greater Boston and Merrimack Valley Engineering students by also initiating the option of a work-study plan for their education."

"We hope that, similar to the experience of our cooperative degree students in Business Administration, future Engineering students at Merrimack will have not only the opportunity 'to earn while they learn,' but also the opportunity to gain valuable work experience in their fields of Civil and Electrical Engineering," continued Fr. Aherne.

The new cooperative degree program option at Merrimack will involve an intensified four-year course of study with majors in Civil Engineering and Electrical Engineering. The program will operate on a trimester system composed of the regular fall and spring semester and a twelve week summer semester.

The Engineering students at Merrimack who choose the cooperative degree option will attend class for three consecutive semesters before their first cooperative work assignment. The students will then continue their engineering studies on an alternating work-study semester arrangement for their remaining three years.

During their work experience semesters, Merrimack College will place the cooperative degree students with cooperating engineering firms in the Greater Boston and Merrimack Valley areas in work assignments directly related to their course of study. These students will also participate in a minimum of four work-experience semesters during their collegiate program with graduation occurring during August of their fourth year. College officials noted that the added dimension of the work experience semesters in the Engineering programs will afford students with on-the-job instruction which will make their academic courses on campus more relevant. The work-experience semesters will also allow students to gain added income to defray the cost of their collegiate education.

Presently there are 117 students including 40 freshmen in the Engineering programs at Merrimack. The regular four-year, eight-semester Engineering programs will be retained at the North Andover College, but with the addition of Engineering cooperative degree programs, Merrimack officials foresee an entering freshman class of 90 engineering students by 1980.

The five-year cooperative degree program in Business Administration began at Merrimack in 1971 has grown from an entering enrollment of 72 students during its initial year to a freshman class of 150 students and over 60 cooperating Greater Boston and Merrimack Valley business firms in four years.

Civil Engineering as a degree course of study was initiated at Merrimack College in 1951 while Electrical Engineering has been offered since 1954.

Exclusive Listings . . .

are you chicken
about putting all your eggs
in one basket

Some property owners get the deep horrors about listing their property exclusively with one broker. They have visions of him fleeing to a vacation in the Sunny South, leaving them out in the cold, out of touch with the Real Estate market.

Can such a thing happen? Not if you're a Victor customer. We work as a team. Although we like the warmer climate as much as the next man, we don't depart en masse. A team member is always working in your behalf. Does it mean we're the only company actively interested in you? No. Once listed with us your property needs and objectives are publicized to a wide group of brokers. They work with us to get immediate action and results for you.

When you put all your eggs in the exclusive*Victor basket, things begin to happen. Try us and see.

*All our "Exclusive Listings" are put into "Multiple Listing Service" at once.

Planning Is Academic

of town needs.

As for academy property actually on the market, the spokesman said that the Abbot property at School and Abbot Streets, the Southworth home, formerly occupied by Donald Gordon, Abbot principal, is being rented but is for sale.

Three Phillips properties were on the market but are now being rented. These include the Green house at Morton and Bartlet Streets, the home at 2 Hidden Road and the one at 38 Bancroft Road.

It is understandable that the academy would dispose of the properties when they become excess. The school is among the town's top taxpayers and disposal through sale of property could relieve its tax burden, as well as aiding its endowment fund.

What the selectmen are hopeful of, is that the interest of the town will be maintained in any considerations.

Local officials are also of the opinion that the town would be given an opportunity to act on the property, should the occasion arise.

Some see the availability of such property as being a civic center type cluster, with municipal offices being close to the center of town, should the residents choose to move in that direction.

The Abbot property, like the Sacred Heart holdings in Shawsheen is looked upon as potential short or even long term solution to some of the public school population problems.

The town hall, steadfastly remaining on its downtown foundation despite almost annual discussion of replacement, is also a part of the consideration.

Any of the many downtown studies has considered the status of town hall. Moving municipal offices to either Abbot or Sacred Heart buildings, will be a part of the consideration of a special committee which is to be appointed by the town manager to look into the desirability as well as feasibility of the town acquiring the land and buildings.

The Sacred Heart land in Shawsheen is eyed anxiously by the conservation people, not only as a preservation of green area, but also to provide a playground and recreational facility for the Shawsheen area.

The school maintained an outdoor skating rink on the property for many years.

While Monday's discussions were preliminary in nature, it has become evident that academic and economic considerations have broadened the thinking and planning spectre for municipal officials.

When Sacred Heart announced its closing late last summer, attention turned to the potential offered by the property.

With the addition of the Abbot properties, additional planning considerations seem likely.

Signs indicating Lowell Junction plants will be removed. Clark-Dascomb Road and efforts will have trucks use routes, as a result meeting on Ballantyne problems with the Monday nights.

The selectmen agree they had been unable to make any progress in providing relief since meeting on the subject.

Efforts have been made to make short arrangements, such as traffic over Ballantyne in Wilmington, which ban town fathers have to.

Even if Wilmington agree to take the Route 93 into the Lowell Industrial relieving River Street and Vale Street, doubtful that the State of Public Works give approval for truck route.

Selectman Alan suggested that Town Austin confer with the traffic department industrial plants involved for some co-operation in having to aware of the dangers of the narrow Ballardvale Street.

State Rep. Ele Cohen reported that he discussed the matter with DPW authorities in expedite an interchange Route 93 to solve the problem. This, he said, was a solution.

The only short term is a volunteer effort industries involved.

Residents of the again present to residents they face heavy trucking as well as traffic going to and from industrial plants.

Auto and truck traffic Gillette, GSF Corp. smaller firms in the present constant harassment residents of Clark River Street particularly concerned.

It was suggested that traffic be rerouted a Clark Road, and down Road to Andover section of Andover scheduled for reconstruction and is not recommended alternate use, Town Austin reported selectmen.

Adding to the danger over such street Road, one resident that dangerous chemicals carried to the GSF plant could be spilled on roadways should an
